Whereas:

- (1) The global financial crisis that emerged in 2007-2008 has revealed excessive speculative activities, important regulatory gaps, ineffective supervision, opaque markets and overly complex products in the financial system. The Union has adopted a range of measures in order to render the banking system more solid and more stable, including strengthening capital requirements, rules on improved governance and supervision and resolution regimes. The progress made on the establishment of the banking union is also decisive in this context, also contributing to the chief function of the financial sector to direct capital towards financing the real economy. However, the crisis has also highlighted the need to improve transparency and monitoring not only in the traditional banking sector but also in areas where bank-like credit intermediation takes place, called “shadow banking”, whose scale is alarming, being already estimated to amount to close to half of the regulated banking system. Any shortcomings with regard to those activities, which are similar to those carried out by banks, have the potential to affect the rest of the financial sector.
- (2) In the context of its work to curb shadow banking, the Financial Stability Board (the "FSB") and the European Systemic Risk Board (the "ESRB") have identified the risks that securities financing transactions ("SFTs") pose. SFTs allow the build-up of leverage, pro-cyclicality and interconnectedness in the financial markets. In particular, a lack of transparency in the use of SFTs has prevented regulators and supervisors as well as investors from correctly assessing and monitoring the respective bank-like risks and level of interconnectedness in the financial system in the period preceding and during the financial crisis. Against this background, on 29 August 2013, the FSB adopted a policy framework for addressing shadow banking risks in securities lending and repos. This was subsequently endorsed in September 2013 by the G20 Leaders.

- (2a) Subsequently, on 14 October 2014, the FSB published a regulatory framework for haircuts on non-centrally cleared SFTs. In the absence of clearing, such operations raise major risks if they are not properly collateralised. While enhancing transparency on the reuse of client assets would be a first step towards facilitating counterparties' capacity to analyse and prevent risks, the FSB is due to complete its work, by 2016, on a set of recommendations on haircuts on non-centrally cleared SFTs to prevent excessive leveraging and mitigate concentration and default risk.
- (3) In March 2012, the Commission published a Green Paper on Shadow Banking. Based on the extensive feedback received and taking into account international developments, the Commission published, on 4 September 2013, a Communication to Council and the European Parliament on Shadow Banking . The Communication stressed that the complex and opaque nature of SFTs makes it difficult to identify counterparties and monitor risk concentration. This also leads to the build-up of excessive leverage in the financial system.
- (4) A High-Level Expert Group chaired by Erkki Liikanen adopted a report on reforming the structure of the Union banking sector in October 2012. It discussed among other things the interaction between the traditional and the shadow banking systems. The report recognised the risks of shadow banking activities such as high leverage and pro-cyclicality, and it called for a reduction of the interconnectedness between banks and the shadow banking system, which had been a source of contagion in a system-wide banking crisis. The report also suggested certain structural measures to deal with remaining weaknesses in the Union banking sector.
- (5) Structural reforms of the Union banking system are dealt with in a separate legal proposal. However, imposing structural measures on banks could result in certain activities being shifted to less regulated areas such as the shadow banking sector. For these reasons, the legal proposal on structural reform of the Union banking sector should be accompanied by the binding transparency and reporting requirements for SFTs set out in this Regulation. Thus, the transparency rules of this Regulation complement the Union structural reform rules.

- (6) This Regulation responds to the need to enhance transparency of securities financing markets and thus of the financial system. In order to ensure equivalent conditions of competition and international convergence, this Regulation follows the FSB Recommendations. It creates a Union framework under which details of SFTs can be efficiently reported to trade repositories and information on SFTs and total return swaps is disclosed to investors in collective investment undertakings. The definition of SFT in this Regulation does not include derivative contracts as defined in Regulation (EU) No 648/2012. However, it includes transactions that are commonly referred to as liquidity swaps and collateral swaps, which do not fall under the definition of derivative contracts in Regulation (EU) No 648/2012. . The need for international convergence is reinforced by the probability that following structural reform of the Union banking sector activities that are currently exercised by traditional banks might migrate to the shadow banking sector and encompass financial and non-financial entities. Therefore, even less transparency may arise for regulators and supervisors in respect of those activities, preventing them from obtaining a proper overview of the risks linked to securities financing transactions. This would only aggravate already well established links between the regulated and the shadow banking sectors in particular markets.
- (6a) The evolution of market practices and technological developments enable market participants to use transactions other than SFTs as a source of funding, for liquidity and collateral management, as a yield-enhancement strategy, to cover short sales or for dividend tax arbitrage. Such transactions could have an equivalent economic effect and pose similar risks to SFTs, including: procyclicality brought about by fluctuating asset values and volatility; maturity or liquidity transformation stemming from financing long-term or illiquid assets through short-term or liquid assets; financial contagion arising from interconnectedness of chains of transactions involving collateral reuse.

- (7) In order to respond to the issues raised by the FSB Recommendations and the developments envisaged following structural reform of the Union banking sector, Member States are likely to adopt divergent national measures which could create obstacles to the smooth functioning of the internal market and be to the detriment of market participants and financial stability. In addition, the lack of harmonised transparency rules makes it difficult for national authorities to compare the micro-level data stemming from different Member States and thus to understand the real risks individual market participants pose to the system. It is therefore necessary to prevent such distortions and obstacles from arising in the Union. Consequently, the appropriate legal basis for this Regulation should be Article 114 of the Treaty on the Functioning of the European Union ("TFUE"), as interpreted in accordance with the consistent case law of the Court of Justice of the European Union.
- (8) The new rules on transparency therefore provide for the reporting of details regarding SFTs concluded by all market participants, whereas they are financial or non-financial entities, including the composition of the collateral, if the collateral is available for reuse or has been reused, the substitution of collateral at the end of the day and the haircuts applied. In order to minimise additional operational costs for market participants, the new rules and standards should build on pre-existing infrastructures, operational processes and formats which have been introduced with regard to reporting derivative contracts to trade repositories. In this context, ESMA should, to the extent feasible and relevant, minimise overlaps and avoid inconsistencies between the technical standards developed under this Regulation and those developed under Article 9 of Regulation (EU) No 648/2012. This legal framework is, to the extent possible, identical to that of Regulation (EU) No 648/2012 of the European Parliament and of the Council in respect of the reporting of derivative contracts to trade repositories registered for that purpose. This should also enable trade repositories registered or recognised in accordance with that Regulation to fulfil the repository function assigned by the new rules, if they comply with certain additional criteria, subject to the completion of a simplified registration process.

(8a) Transactions with members of the ESCB should be exempted from the obligation to report SFTs to trade repositories. However, in order to ensure that regulators and supervisors obtain a proper overview of the risks linked to SFTs concluded by the entities they regulate or supervise, the relevant authorities and members of the ESCB should cooperate closely. This cooperation should enable regulators and supervisors to fulfil their respective responsibilities and mandates. This close cooperation should be confidential and be conditional upon a justified request from the relevant competent authorities, and should only be provided with a view to enabling those authorities to fulfil their respective responsibilities having due regard to the principles and requirements of Central bank independence and the performance by them of their functions as monetary authorities, including the performance of monetary, foreign exchange and financial stability policy operations which members of the ESCB are legally empowered to pursue. The members of the ESCB should be able to refuse to provide information where the transactions are entered into by them in the performance of their functions as monetary authorities, and should notify the requesting authority of that refusal together with the justification therefor.

(9) As a result, information on the risks inherent in securities financing markets will be centrally stored and easily and directly accessible, among others, to ESMA, the European Banking Authority ("EBA"), the European Insurance and Occupational Pensions Authority ("EIOPA"), the relevant competent authorities, the ESRB and the relevant central banks of the European System of Central Banks ("ESCB"), including the European Central Bank ("ECB") in carrying out its tasks within a single supervisory mechanism under Council Regulation (EU) N° 1024/2013, for the purpose of identification and monitoring of financial stability risks entailed by shadow banking activities of regulated and non-regulated entities. ESMA should take into consideration the existing technical standards established by Article 81 of Regulation (EU) No 648/2012 regulating trade repositories for derivative contracts and their future developments when drawing up or proposing to revise the regulatory technical standards provided for in this Regulation. ESMA should also aim to ensure that the relevant competent authorities, the ESRB and the relevant central banks of the ESCB, including the ECB, have direct and immediate access to the information necessary to perform their duties, including the duties to define and implement monetary policy and to perform oversight of financial market infrastructures. In order to ensure this, ESMA shall set out the terms and conditions for accessing to such data in regulatory technical standards.

- (10) It is necessary to introduce provisions on the exchange of information between competent authorities and to strengthen the duties of assistance and cooperation which they owe to each other. Due to increasing cross-border activity, competent authorities should provide each other with the relevant information for the exercise of their functions, so as to ensure the effective enforcement of this Regulation, including in situations where infringements or suspected infringements may be of concern to authorities in two or more Member States. In the exchange of information, strict professional secrecy is needed to ensure the smooth transmission of that information and the protection of particular rights. Without prejudice to the provisions of criminal or tax law, the competent authorities, ESMA, bodies or natural or legal persons other than the competent authorities, which receive confidential information, should use it only in the performance of their duties and for the exercise of their functions. However, this should not prevent the exercise, in accordance with national law, of the functions of national bodies responsible for the prevention, investigation or correction of cases of maladministration.
- (11) SFTs are used extensively by fund managers for efficient portfolio management. This use can have a significant impact on the performance of those funds. They can be used either to fulfil investment objectives or to enhance returns. Managers also make use of total return swaps which have effects equivalent to SFTs. SFTs and total return swaps are extensively used by fund managers to get exposure to certain strategies or to enhance the returns. The use of SFTs and total return swaps may increase the general risk profile of the fund whereas their use is not properly disclosed to investors. It is crucial to ensure that investors in such funds are able to make informed choices and to assess the overall risk and reward profile of investment funds. When assessing SFTs and total return swaps the collective investment undertaking should observe general principles such as considering the substance of the transaction in addition to its legal form.

- (12) Investments made on the basis of incomplete or inaccurate information as regards a fund's investment strategy can result in significant investor losses. It is therefore essential that investment funds disclose all relevant detailed information linked to their use of SFTs and total return swaps. In addition, full transparency is especially relevant in the area of investment funds as the entirety of assets that are subject to SFTs and total return swaps are not owned by the fund managers but by the fund investors. Full disclosure as regards SFTs and total return swaps is therefore an essential tool to safeguard against possible conflicts of interest.
- (13) The new rules on transparency of SFTs and total return swaps are closely linked to Directives 2009/65/EC⁴ and 2011/61/EU of the European Parliament and of the Council⁵ since those Directives form the legal framework governing the establishment, management and marketing of collective investment undertakings.
- (14) Collective investment undertakings may operate as undertakings for collective investment in transferable securities ("UCITS") managed by UCITS managers or investment companies authorised under Directive 2009/65/EC or as AIFs managed by alternative investment fund managers ("AIFMs") authorised or registered under Directive 2011/61/EU. The new rules on transparency introduced by this Regulation supplement the provisions of those Directives. Hence, the new uniform rules on transparency of SFTs and total return swaps should apply in addition to those laid down in Directives 2009/65/EC and 2011/61/EU.

⁵ Directive 2011/61/EU of the European Parliament and of the Council of 8 June 2011 on Alternative Investment Fund Managers and amending Directives 2003/41/EC and 2009/65/EC and Regulations (EC) No 1060/2009 and (EU) No 1095/2010 (OJ L 174, 1.7.2011, p. 1).

- (15) In order to enable investors to become aware of the risks associated with the use of SFTs and total return swaps, fund managers should include detailed information on any recourse they have to these techniques in regular reports. The existing periodical reports that UCITS management or investment companies and AIFMs have to produce should be supplemented by the additional information on the use of SFTs and total return swaps. In further specifying the content of these periodical reports ESMA should take into account administrative burden and the specificities of different types of SFTs and total return swaps.
- (16) A fund's investment policy with respect to SFTs and total return swaps should be clearly disclosed in the pre-contractual documents, such as the prospectus for the UCITS funds and the pre-contractual disclosure to investors for the AIFs. This should ensure that investors understand and appreciate the inherent risks before they decide to invest in a particular UCITS and AIF.
- (17) Reuse of collateral provides liquidity and enables counterparties to reduce funding costs. However, it tends to create complex collateral chains between traditional banking and shadow banking, posing financial stability risks. The lack of transparency on the extent to which financial instruments provided as collateral have been reused and the respective risks in the case of bankruptcy can undermine confidence in counterparties and magnify risks to financial stability.
- (17a) In order to increase transparency of reuse, minimum information requirements should be imposed. Reuse should take place only with the express knowledge and consent of the providing counterparty. Therefore, the exercise of reuse should be reflected in its securities account of the providing counterparty, unless this account is governed by the law of a third country which might provide for other appropriate means to reflect the reuse.

- (17b) Although the scope of the rules concerning reuse is wider than the one of the Directive 2002/47/EC, this Regulation does not amend the scope of Directive 2002/47/EC but rather should be read in addition to Directive 2002/47/EC. The conditions subject to which counterparties have a right to re-use and to exercise that right should not diminish in any way the protection afforded to title transfer financial collateral arrangement under Directive 2002/47/EC. Against this background, any breach of transparency requirements of reuse should not affect national law concerning the validity or effect of a transaction.
- (18) This Regulation establishes strict information rules towards counterparties on reuse which should not prejudice the application of sectorial rules adapted to specific actors, structures and situations. Therefore, the rules on reuse provided for in this Regulation should apply, for example, to funds and depositories only insofar as there are no more stringent rules on reuse foreseen within the framework for investment funds or for safeguarding of client assets constituting a lex specialis and taking precedence over the rules contained in this Regulation. In particular, this Regulation should be without prejudice to any rule under EU law or national law restricting the ability of counterparties to engage in reuse of financial instruments that are provided as collateral by counterparties or persons other than counterparties. Application of the reuse requirements should be deferred by 6 months in order to provide counterparties with sufficient time to adapt their outstanding collateral arrangements, including master agreements, and to ensure new collateral arrangements comply with this Regulation.
- (18b) In order to promote international consistency of terminology, this Regulation employs the term “reuse” due to the FSB Recommendations. This should however not lead to inconsistency within Union acquis, in particular it should be without prejudice to the use of the term “reuse” employed in Directives 2009/65/EC⁶ and 2011/61/EU.

- (19) In order to ensure compliance by counterparties, with the obligations deriving from this Regulation and to ensure that they are subject to similar treatment across the Union, administrative sanctions and measures which are effective, proportionate and dissuasive should be ensured. Therefore, administrative sanctions and measures set by this Regulation should satisfy certain essential requirements in relation to addressees, criteria to be taken into account when applying a sanction or measure, publication of sanctions or measures, key penalising powers and levels of administrative pecuniary sanctions. It is appropriate that measures and sanctions established under Directives 2009/65/EC and 2011/61/EU apply to infringements of the investment funds transparency obligations under this Regulation.
- (19a) The sanctioning powers conferred on competent authorities should be without prejudice to the exclusive competence of the ECB, pursuant to Article 4(1)(a) of Council Regulation (EU) No 1024/2013, to withdraw authorisations of credit institutions for prudential supervisory purposes.
- (19b) Provisions regarding the application for registration of trade repositories and the withdrawal of registration do not affect the remedies provided for in Chapter V of Regulation (EU) 1095/2010.

- (20) Technical standards in the financial services sector should ensure consistent harmonisation and adequate protection of depositors, investors and consumers across the Union. As a body with highly specialised expertise, it is efficient and appropriate to entrust the ESMA with the elaboration of draft regulatory technical and implementing standards, which do not involve policy choices. ESMA should ensure efficient administrative and reporting processes when drafting technical standards. The Commission should be empowered to adopt regulatory technical standards by means of delegated acts pursuant to Article 290 of the Treaty on the Functioning of the European Union and in accordance with Articles 10 to 14 of Regulation (EU) No 1095/2010 of the European Parliament and of the Council⁷ in the following areas: the details of the different types of SFTs; the details of the application for registration or extension of services of a trade repository; the details of procedures to verify the details of SFTs reported to trade repositories; the frequency and the details of publication of, the requirements for, and the access to, trade repositories' data; and, if necessary, the content of the Annex.
- (21) The Commission should be empowered to adopt implementing technical standards developed by ESMA by means of implementing acts pursuant to Article 291 of the TFEU and in accordance with the procedure set out in Article 15 of Regulation (EU) No 1095/2010 with regard to the format and frequency of the reports, the format of the application for registration or extension of services of a trade repository, as well as the procedures and forms for exchange of information on sanctions with ESMA.

⁷ Regulation (EU) No 1095/2010 of the European Parliament and of the Council of 24 November 2010 establishing a European Supervisory Authority (European Securities and Markets Authority), amending Decision No 716/2009/EC and repealing Commission Decision 2009/77/EC (OJ L 331, 15.12.2010, p. 84).

- (22) The power to adopt acts in accordance with Article 290 of the TFEU should be delegated to the Commission in respect of amending the list of entities that should be excluded from the scope of this Regulation and of the type of fees, the matters for which fees are due, the amount of the fees and the manner in which they are to be paid by trade repositories. It is of particular importance that the Commission carries out appropriate consultations during its preparatory work, including at expert level. The Commission, when preparing and drawing up delegated acts, should ensure a simultaneous, timely and appropriate transmission of relevant documents to the European Parliament and to the Council.
- (23) In order to ensure uniform conditions for the implementation of this Regulation, implementing powers should be conferred on the Commission to take decisions on the assessment of rules from third countries for the purposes of recognition of third country trade repositories, and in order to avoid potentially duplicate or conflicting requirements. The assessment which forms the basis of decisions on equivalence of reporting should not prejudice the right of a trade repository established in a third country and recognised by ESMA to provide reporting services to entities established in the Union, as the recognition decision should be independent of this assessment.
- (23a) Where an implementing act on equivalence is withdrawn, counterparties should automatically be subject again to all requirements laid down in this Regulation.
- (23b) Where appropriate, the Commission should cooperate with third-country authorities in order to explore mutually supportive solutions to ensure consistency between this Regulation and the requirements established by third countries and thus avoid any possible overlapping in this respect.
- (24) In accordance with the principle of proportionality, it is necessary and appropriate to ensure the transparency of certain market activities such as SFTs and reuse to enable the monitoring and identification of the corresponding risks to financial stability. This Regulation does not go beyond what is necessary in order to achieve the objectives pursued in accordance with Article 5(4) of the Treaty on the European Union.

- (24a) The new uniform rules on the transparency of SFTs and certain over-the-counter ('OTC') derivatives, namely total return swaps, laid down in this Regulation are closely linked to Regulation (EU) 648/2012, as those OTC derivatives fall within the scope of reporting requirements under that regulation. In order to ensure a coherent scope of both sets of transparency and reporting requirements, a clear delineation between OTC derivatives and exchange-traded derivatives is needed irrespective of whether those contracts are traded in the Union or in third-country markets. The definition of OTC derivatives in Regulation (EU) 648/2012 should therefore be amended in order to ensure that the same type of derivatives contracts are identified as either OTC derivatives or exchange-traded derivatives irrespective of whether those contracts are traded in the Union or third-country markets.
- (25) This Regulation respects the fundamental rights and observes the principles recognised in the Charter of Fundamental Rights of the European Union, in particular the right to the protection of personal data, the right to respect private and family life, the right to defence and the principle of ne bis in idem, the freedom to conduct a business, the right to property, the right to an effective remedy and to a fair trial. This Regulation must be applied according to these rights and principles.
- (26) The European Data Protection Supervisor was consulted in accordance with Article 28(2) of Regulation (EC) No 45/2001 and delivered an opinion on 11 July 2014⁸. Any exchange or transmission of personal data by competent authorities of the Member States should be undertaken in accordance with the rules on the transfer of personal data as laid down in Directive 95/46/EC. Any exchange or transmission of personal data carried out by ESMA, EBA and EIOPA should be in accordance with the rules on the transfer of personal data as laid down in Regulation (EC) No 45/2001. Any transfer of data between trade repositories, whether located in the Union or in a third country and entities having access to the data held in trade repositories should follow the principles laid down in Regulation (EC) No 45/2001.

⁸ Regulation (EU) No 1095/2010 of the European Parliament and of the Council of 24 November 2010 establishing a European Supervisory Authority (European Securities and Markets Authority), amending Decision No 716/2009/EC and repealing Commission Decision 2009/77/EC (OJ L 331, 15.12.2010, p. 84).

- (26a) With the assistance of the European Securities and Markets Authority ("ESMA"), the Commission should monitor and prepare reports to the European Parliament and the Council on the international application of the reporting obligation laid down in this Regulation. The time provided for the submission of the Commission reports should take into account the prior effective implementation of this Regulation.
- (26b) Following the outcome of the work performed by relevant international fora, and with the assistance of ESMA, EBA and the ESRB, the Commission should submit a report to the European Parliament and to the Council on progress in international efforts to mitigate the risks associated with SFTs, including the FSB recommendations for haircuts on non-centrally cleared SFTs, and on their appropriateness for European markets.
- (28) The application of the transparency requirements under this Regulation should be deferred in order to provide trade repositories with sufficient time to apply for authorisation and recognition of their activities provided for in this Regulation, and counterparties and investments funds with sufficient time to comply with these requirements. In particular, it is appropriate to defer the amendment of any prospectus, taking into account the Guidelines issued by ESMA on 18 December 2012 (ESMA/2012/832), which lay down an optional framework for UCITS management companies regarding disclosure obligations, and the need to reduce the administrative burden of fund managers. In order to ensure the effective implementation of the reporting of securities financing transactions, a phased implementation of the requirements by type of counterparty is necessary. This approach should take into account the effective ability of the counterparty to comply with the reporting obligations.

HAVE ADOPTED THIS REGULATION:

Scope

1. This Regulation shall apply to:
 - (a) a counterparty to a SFT that is established:
 - (1) in the Union, including all its branches irrespective of where they are located;
 - (2) in a third country, if the SFT is concluded in the course of operations of an EU branch of that counterparty;
 - (b) management companies of undertakings for collective investment in transferable securities ("UCITS") and UCITS investment companies in accordance with Directive 2009/65/EC;
 - (c) managers of alternative investment funds ("AIFMs") authorised in accordance with Directive 2011/61/EU;

- (d) a counterparty engaging in reuse that is established:
 - (1) in the Union, including all its branches irrespective of where they are located;
 - (2) in a third country, in either of the following cases:
 - (i) reuse is effected in the course of the operations of an EU branch of that counterparty;
 - (ii) the reuse concerns financial instruments provided under a collateral arrangement by a counterparty established in the Union or an EU branch of a counterparty established in a third country.

2. Articles 4 and 15 shall not apply to:

- (a) members of the European System of Central Banks (ESCB), other Member States' bodies performing similar functions and other Union public bodies charged with or intervening in the management of the public debt;
- (b) the Bank for International Settlements.

2a. Article 4 shall not apply to transactions to which a member of the ESCB is a counterparty.

3. The Commission shall be empowered to adopt delegated acts in accordance with Article 27 to amend the list of entities set out in paragraph 2 of this Article.

To that end and before adopting such delegated acts, the Commission shall present to the European Parliament and the Council a report assessing the international treatment of central banks and of public bodies charged with or intervening in the management of the public debt.

That report shall include a comparative analysis of the treatment of central banks and of those bodies within the legal framework of a number of third countries. Provided that the report concludes, in particular in regard to the comparative analysis and potential effects, that the exemption of the monetary responsibilities of those third-country central banks and bodies from Article 15 is necessary, the Commission shall add them to the list set out in paragraph 2.

Where a competent authority considers, following a case-by-case assessment, that the publication of the identity of the legal person subject to the decision, or the personal data of a natural person, would be disproportionate, or where such publication would jeopardise an ongoing investigation or the stability of the financial markets, it shall do one of the following:

- (a) defer publication of the decision until the reasons for that deferral cease to exist;
- (b) publish the decision on an anonymous basis in accordance with national law where such publication ensures the effective protection of the personal data concerned and, where appropriate, postpone publication of the relevant data for a reasonable period of time where it is foreseeable that the reasons for anonymous publication will cease to exist during that period;

Chapter IX

Review

Article 26

Reports and review

1. By [OJ please insert date: 24 months after the obligations laid down under Article 4 start to apply], the Commission shall, after consulting ESMA, report on the effectiveness, efficiency and proportionality of the obligations under this Regulation to the European Parliament and to the Council, together with any appropriate proposals. This report shall include, in particular, an overview of similar reporting obligations in third countries taking into account work at international level. It shall also focus on the reporting of any relevant transactions not included in the scope of this Regulation, taking into account any significant developments in market practices, as well as on the possible impact on the level of transparency of securities financing operations.

For the purposes of this report, by [12 months after the obligations laid down under Article 4(1) start to apply], ESMA shall present a report to the European Parliament, the Council and the Commission on the efficiency of the reporting, taking into account the appropriateness of single-side reporting, in particular in terms of reporting coverage and quality as well as reduction of reports to trade repositories, and on significant developments in market practices with a focus on transactions having an equivalent objective or effect to a securities financing transaction.

After this first report, ESMA shall submit to the European Parliament, the Council and the Commission an updated report every three years, or earlier where significant developments in market practices arise.

- 1a. Following completion of and taking into account work at international level, the report referred to in the previous paragraph shall also identify material risks related to the use of SFTs by credit institutions and listed companies and analyse the appropriateness of providing for additional disclosure by those entities in their regular reports.
2. By [OJ please insert date: 21 months after entry into force of this Regulation*], the Commission shall submit a report to the European Parliament and to the Council on progress in international efforts to mitigate the risks associated with SFTs, including the FSB recommendations for haircuts on non-centrally cleared SFTs, and on their appropriateness for European markets. The Commission shall submit this report together with any appropriate proposals.

To that end, ESMA shall, in cooperation with EBA and the ESRB and taking due account of international efforts, prepare a report assessing :

- (a) whether the use of SFTs leads to the build-up of significant leverage that is not addressed by existing regulation and
- (b) where appropriate, the options available to tackle such a build-up , and
- (c) whether further measures to reduce the pro-cyclicality of that leverage are required.

This report shall also consider the quantitative impact of the FSB recommendations and shall be submitted to the Commission by [OJ please insert date: 9 months] after entry into force of this Regulation]. The report shall also be submitted to the European Parliament and to the Council.

- 2a. By [OJ please insert date: 18 months after the obligations laid down under Article 4 start to apply to non-financial counterparties], the Commission shall, after consulting ESMA, submit a report to the European Parliament and to the Council on the application of Article 11 in particular on whether fees that have been charged to trade repositories are proportionate to the turnover of the trade repository concerned and limited to fully covering ESMA's necessary expenditure relating to the registration, recognition and supervision of trade repositories as well as the reimbursement of any costs that the competent authorities may incur carrying out work pursuant to this Regulation in particular as a result of any delegation of tasks pursuant to Article 9(1) of this Regulation.

For the purposes of the Commission's reports referred to in the first subparagraph of the paragraph 2a, ESMA shall, by [OJ please insert date: 12 months after the obligations laid down under Article 4 start to apply to non-financial counterparties], submit a report to the Commission on the fees charged to trade repositories in accordance with this Regulation. This report shall at least detail ESMA's necessary expenditures relating to the registration, recognition and supervision of trade repositories, the costs that the competent authorities incurred carrying out work pursuant to this Regulation, in particular, as a result of any delegation of tasks, as well as the fees charged to trade repositories and their proportionality to trade repositories' turnover.

After this first report, ESMA shall submit an updated report to the Commission every three years, or more frequently where material changes to existing fees are introduced.

Following submission of the report referred to in the first subparagraph, the Commission shall submit an updated report to the European Parliament and to the Council within six months of receipt of the updated report of ESMA referred to in the third subparagraph.

- 2b. ESMA, after consulting the ESRB, shall publish an annual report on aggregate SFT volumes by type of counterparty and transaction based on data reported in accordance with Article 4.
