Now in its fourth edition and attracting over 200 stakeholders each year, the European Cyber Security Conference provides a platform for a lively and interactive debate on the current and future political and technological cyber security challenges that Europe faces.

More Information

Malicious attacks and cyber incidents, which are growing in sophistication, threaten the information technology systems that underpin the vast majority of the critical and non-critical infrastructure in Europe. With the cyber security strategy adopted in 2013, the NIS directive shortly entering its implementation phase, the recent announcement of the contractual Public Private Partnership between the EU and industry, and the Communication on Strengthening Europe's Cyber Resilience System and Fostering and Innovative Cyber security Industry, the goal is to create a secure digital environment where all economic actors and citizens can safely take advantage of the benefits offered by digital in Europe.

This year's event will focus on the following themes

- Recent EU Initiatives: Implementation of the NIS Directive and Public-Private Partnership on Research and Innovation in Cyber Security
- Cyber Security Innovation and Standardisation: To what extent will products and services based on innovations such as blockchain, biometrics and machine-learning, shape and inform the future of cybersecurity, ensure the integrity of the value chain of technology solutions, and ultimately help achieve data-driven security?
- Cyber Security: From the field: What cyber security risks are faced by various industries, how incidents are currently managed, and what is required to face future threats?
- The challenges of combatting and policing cybercrimes: How are police forces co-operating internationally, strategically and operationally, to combat cybercrime networks? Is intelligence on emerging threats shared effectively?

Attended by senior policymakers, business leaders and cyber experts, this conference is a must for all those with a stake in delivering a more secure digital economy and society in Europe.
