Statement by Portugal

"Portugal welcomes the approval of the Youth Guarantee which it considers a very important instrument for combating the social scourge of youth unemployment.

We consider that paragraph 28 of the Recommendation should be interpreted in line with the conclusions of the European Council meeting on 7 and 8 February 2013, namely those contained in paragraph 59 referring to the Youth Employment Initiative: (...) It will act in support of measures set out in the youth employment package proposed by the Commission in December 2012 and in particular to support the Youth Guarantee (...)."

Statement by the Czech Republic

"The Czech Republic considers youth unemployment as one of the key challenges of the European labour markets, with potential long-term negative impacts on the whole generation. The Czech Republic therefore supports actions and tools aimed at tackling youth unemployment and promoting integration of young people into the labour market, including the Youth Guarantee. However, considering the variety of situation and conditions among the Member States, and the demanding challenges for the public employment services in the current period of high overall unemployment and fiscal restraints, the Czech Republic would have welcomed a higher flexibility in setting the deadline for guaranteeing activation measures to the young unemployed."

Statement by Hungary

"Hungary generally agrees with the priority of the Annual Growth Survey that Member States should implement growth- and employment friendly fiscal consolidation measures to preserve future growth potential and adequate social protection.

As regards growth-friendly fiscal consolidation, Hungary reiterates its commitment towards a more employment-friendly tax system. To this end Hungary will continue to shift the burden of taxation away from labour.

At the same time, Hungary reserves the right to decide on matters falling within the scope of exclusive national competence such as those in the area of taxation.

Hungary expresses its concerns over the procedure applied to adopt Council conclusions related to the European Semester. These discussions should be based on open dialogue both at Committee level (EMCO, SPC) and political level (Coreper) and should be prepared by the Social Questions Working Party in substance. The expert level discussions in the preparatory committees provide for professional background, but these expert bodies can by no means substitute political leadership.

For these reasons, Hungary considers that the procedure needs to be revisited at the earliest – taking into account lessons learnt from previous European Semesters –, so that it can bring political messages that each Member States take full ownership of."

Statement by Malta

"We wish to express our reservations on the process being used to adopt Council Conclusions in relation to matters related to the Europe 2020 strategy.

We fully respect the role of the Treaty-based committees, notably the Employment Committee (EMCO) and the Social Protection Committee (SPC), in reporting to EPSCO according to Articles 150 and 160 of the Treaty on the Functioning of the European Union, and we credit their work in preparing matters Council conclusions related to the Europe2020 strategy. Nevertheless, we consider that following such a preparatory stage at committee level, the due process leading to the EPSCO Council must also be respected and retained, notably through the preparation of the Council documents by both the Social Questions Working Party and COREPER.

In a regretful repetition of last year's experience, the procedure currently being followed does not allow for this due process to be fulfilled. Member States representatives at both working party level and at COREPER level are not being given the faculty of thoroughly analysing and debating the texts referred to them by EMCO and SPC. Rather, what is requested is but a simple endorsement of what resulted from one single discussion in these committees.

This regrettable situation leads to the adoption of Council Conclusions that have not been debated fully at all appropriate levels, resulting in Member States not being able to take ownership of the political messages contained therein.

For these reasons, we consider that this procedure needs to be revisited at the earliest."
