I. INTRODUCTION

In accordance with the provisions of Article 294 of the TFEU and the joint declaration on practical arrangements for the codecision procedure¹, a number of informal contacts have taken place between the Council, the European Parliament and the Commission with a view to reach an agreement on this dossier at first reading, thereby avoiding the need for second reading and conciliation.

The result of the vote corresponds to what was agreed between the three institutions and ought therefore to be acceptable to the Council. Consequently, once the Legal/Linguistic Experts have examined the text, the Council should be in a position to adopt the legislative act.

The text of the report adopted and the European Parliament's legislative resolution are set out in the Annex hereto. The amendments are presented in the form of a consolidated text where added wordings are highlighted in bold and italics and the symbol "■" indicates deleted text.

THE EUROPEAN PARLIAMENT AND THE COUNCIL OF THE EUROPEAN UNION,

Having regard to the Treaty on the Functioning of the European Union, and in particular Article 114 and the first paragraph of Article 118 thereof,

Having regard to the proposal from the European Commission,

After transmission of the draft legislative act to the national parliaments,

Having regard to the opinion of the European Economic and Social Committee¹,

Acting in accordance with the ordinary legislative procedure²,

Whereas:

- (1) The economic well-being of the Union relies on sustained creativity and innovation. Therefore measures for their effective protection are indispensable in ensuring its future prosperity.
- (2) Intellectual property rights are vital business assets that help to ensure that creators and innovators get a fair return for their work and that their investment in research and new ideas is protected.
- (3) A sound, harmonised and progressive approach to intellectual property rights is fundamental in the endeavour to fulfil the ambitions of the Europe 2020 Strategy including A Digital Agenda for Europe.
- (4) The constant increase in infringements of intellectual property rights constitutes a genuine threat not only to the Union economy, but also in many cases, to the health and safety of Union consumers. Therefore, effective, immediate and coordinated action at national, European and global levels is needed to successfully combat this phenomenon.

- (5) In the context of the overall intellectual property rights strategy envisaged by the Council Resolution of 25 September 2008 on a comprehensive European anti-counterfeiting and anti-piracy plan¹, the Council called on the Commission to set up a European Observatory on Counterfeiting and Piracy ■. The Commission therefore formed a network of experts from the public and the private sectors and described the tasks of that network in its Communication entitled "Enhancing the enforcement of intellectual property rights in the internal market". This Regulation changes the name of the European Observatory on Counterfeiting and Piracy to the European Observatory on Infringements of Intellectual Property Rights ('the Observatory').
- (6) That Communication stated that the Observatory should serve as the central resource for gathering, monitoring and reporting information and data related to all infringements of intellectual property rights. It should be used as a platform for cooperation between representatives from national authorities and stakeholders to exchange ideas and expertise on best practices and make recommendations to policy-makers for joint enforcement strategies ■. The Communication specified that the Observatory would be hosted and managed by the services of the Commission.
- (7) In its Resolution of 1 March 2010 on the enforcement of intellectual property rights in the internal market², the Council invited the Commission, the Member States and industry to provide the Observatory with available reliable and comparable data on counterfeiting and piracy and to jointly develop and agree, in the context of the Observatory, on plans to collect further information. The Council also invited the Observatory to publish each year a comprehensive annual report covering the scope, scale and principal characteristics of counterfeiting and piracy as well as its impact on the internal market. That annual report should be prepared using the relevant information provided in that regard by the authorities of the Member States, the Commission and the private sector, within the limits of data protection law. The Council also recognised the importance of developing new competitive business models enlarging the legal offer of cultural and creative content and at the same time preventing and combating infringements of intellectual property rights as necessary means for fostering economic growth, employment and cultural diversity.
- (8) In its Conclusions of 25 May 2010 on the future revision of the Trade Mark system in the European Union³, the Council called on the Commission to establish a legal basis for the involvement of the Office for Harmonisation in the Internal Market (Trade Marks and Designs) ("the Office") in enforcement related activities, including the fight against counterfeiting, in particular through fostering its cooperation with the national trade mark offices and the Observatory. In that respect, Directive 2004/48/EC of the European Parliament and of the Council of 29 April 2004 on the enforcement of intellectual property rights¹ provides inter alia for measures to promote cooperation, including the exchange of information, among Member States and between Member States and the Commission.

- (9) In its recommendation of 26 March 2009 on strengthening security and fundamental freedoms on the Internet², the European Parliament recommended that the Council preserve full and safe access to the Internet while encouraging private/public cooperation in enhancing law enforcement cooperation.
- (10) In its resolution of 22 September 2010 on enforcement of intellectual property rights in the internal market³, the European Parliament called on the Member States and the Commission to extend the cooperation between the Office and national intellectual property offices so as to include the fight against infringements of intellectual property rights.
- (11) In its resolution of 12 May 2011 on unlocking the potential of cultural and creative industries⁴, the European Parliament urged the Commission to take into account the specific problems encountered by small and medium-sized enterprises when it comes to asserting their intellectual property rights and to promote best practice and effective methods to respect those rights.
- (12) In its resolution of 6 July 2011 on a comprehensive approach on personal data protection in the European Union⁵, the European Parliament called on the Commission to ensure full harmonisation and legal certainty, providing a uniform and high level of protection of individuals in all circumstances.
- (13) In view of the range of tasks assigned to the Observatory, a solution is needed to ensure an adequate and sustainable infrastructure for the fulfilment of its tasks .
- (14) Council Regulation (EC) No 207/2009 of 26 February 2009 on the Community trade mark⁶ provides for administrative cooperation between the Office and the courts or authorities of the Member States, and the exchange of publications between the Office and the central industrial property offices of the Member States. On that basis, the Office has established cooperation with national offices that are active in the field of protection of intellectual property rights. Consequently, the Office already possesses, to a considerable extent, the necessary experience and expertise to provide an adequate and sustainable infrastructure in the field of the Observatory's tasks.

- (15) The Office is therefore well placed to be entrusted with carrying out those tasks.
- (16) Those tasks should relate to all intellectual property rights covered by Directive 2004/48/EC, since in many cases, infringing acts affect a bundle of intellectual property rights. Furthermore, data and the exchange of best practices are needed on the entire above-mentioned range of intellectual property rights, in order to obtain a complete picture of the situation and to enable comprehensive strategies to be devised with a view to reducing infringements of intellectual property rights. ■
- (17) The tasks that the Office should carry out can be linked to the enforcement and reporting measures laid down by Directive 2004/48/EC. Thus, the Office should provide services to national authorities or operators which affect, in particular, the homogenous implementation of the Directive and which are likely to facilitate its application. The Office's tasks should therefore be considered as closely linked to the subject-matter of acts approximating the laws, regulations and administrative provisions of the Member States.
- (18) Assembled by the Office, the Observatory should become a centre of excellence on information and data relating to infringements of intellectual property rights, by benefiting from the Office's expertise, experience and resources.
- (19) The Office should offer a forum that brings together public authorities and the private sector, ensuring the collection, analysis and dissemination of relevant objective, comparable and reliable data regarding the value of intellectual property rights and infringements of those rights, identifying and promoting best practices and strategies to enforce intellectual property rights, and raising public awareness of the impact of infringements of intellectual property rights. Furthermore, the Office should fulfil additional tasks, such as improving the understanding of the value of intellectual property rights, fostering the exchange of information on new competitive business models which enlarge the legal offer of cultural and creative content, enhancing the expertise of persons involved in the enforcement of intellectual property rights by appropriate training measures, increasing knowledge of techniques to prevent counterfeiting, and improving cooperation with third countries and international organisations. The Commission should be associated with the activities undertaken by the Office under this Regulation.
- (20) The Office should thus facilitate and support the activities of national authorities, the private sector and the Union institutions relating to the enforcement of intellectual property rights and in particular their activities in the fight against infringements of those rights. The exercise by the Office of its powers under this Regulation does not prevent Member States from exercising their competences. The Office's tasks and activities under this Regulation do not extend to participation in individual operations or investigations carried out by the competent authorities.
- (21) In order to fulfil those tasks in the most efficient manner, the Office should consult and cooperate with other authorities at national, European and, where appropriate, international levels, create synergies with the activities carried out by such authorities and avoid any duplication of measures.
- (22) The Office should implement the tasks and activities relating to the enforcement of intellectual property rights by making use of its own budgetary means.

- (23) With regard to representatives of the private sector, the Office should, when assembling the Observatory in the context of its activities, involve a representative selection of the economic sectors – including the creative industries – most concerned by or most experienced in the fight against infringements of intellectual property rights, in particular representatives of right holders, including authors and other creators, as well as Internet intermediaries. Also, a proper representation of consumers and of small and medium-sized enterprises should be ensured.
- (24) The information obligations imposed by this Regulation on the Member States and on the private sector should not create unnecessary administrative burdens and should endeavour to avoid duplication as regards data already provided by Member States and private sector representatives to Union institutions under existing Union reporting requirements.
- (25) Since the objective of this Regulation, namely to entrust the Office with certain tasks related to the enforcement of the intellectual property rights, cannot be sufficiently achieved by the Member States and can therefore, by reason of its effect be better achieved at Union level, the Union may adopt measures, in accordance with the principle of subsidiarity as set out in Article 5 of the Treaty on European Union. In accordance with the principle of proportionality, as set out in that Article, this Regulation does not go beyond what is necessary in order to achieve that objective,
