↓ 98/34/EC

- (2) The internal market comprises an area without internal frontiers in which the free movement of goods, persons, services and capital is ensured. Therefore, the prohibition of quantitative restrictions on the movement of goods and of measures having an equivalent effect is one of the basic principles of the Union.

↓ 98/34/EC (adapted)

- (3) In order to promote the smooth functioning of the internal market, as much transparency as possible should be ensured as regards national initiatives for the establishment of technical regulations.

- (4) Barriers to trade resulting from technical regulations relating to products may be allowed only where they are necessary in order to meet essential requirements and have an objective in the public interest of which they constitute the main guarantee.
- (5) It is essential for the Commission to have the necessary information at its disposal before the adoption of technical provisions. Consequently, the Member States which are required to facilitate the achievement of its task pursuant to Article 4(3) of the Treaty on European Union (TEU) must notify it of their projects in the field of technical regulations.
- (6) All the Member States must also be informed of the technical regulations contemplated by any one Member State.
- (7) The aim of the internal market is to create an environment that is conducive to the competitiveness of undertakings. Increased provision of information is one way of helping undertakings to make more of the advantages inherent in this market. It is therefore necessary to enable economic operators to give their assessment of the impact of the national technical regulations proposed by other Member States, by providing for the regular publication of the titles of notified drafts and by means of the provisions relating to the confidentiality of such drafts.
- (8) It is appropriate, in the interests of legal certainty, that Member States publicly announce that a national technical regulation has been adopted in accordance with the formalities laid down in this Directive.
- (9) As far as technical regulations for products are concerned, the measures designed to ensure the proper functioning or the continued development of the market include greater transparency of national intentions and a broadening of the criteria and conditions for assessing the potential effect of the proposed regulations on the market.
- (10) It is therefore necessary to assess all the requirements laid down in respect of a product and to take account of developments in national practices for the regulation of products.

- (11) Requirements, other than technical specifications, referring to the life cycle of a product after it has been placed on the market are liable to affect the free movement of that product or to create obstacles to the proper functioning of the internal market.
- (12) It is necessary to clarify the concept of a de facto technical regulation. In particular, the provisions by which the public authority refers to technical specifications or other requirements, or encourages the observance thereof, and the provisions referring to products with which the public authority is associated, in the public interest, have the effect of conferring on such requirements or specifications a more binding value than they would otherwise have by virtue of their private origin.
- (13) The Commission and the Member States must also be allowed sufficient time in which to propose amendments to a contemplated measure, in order to remove or reduce any barriers which it might create to the free movement of goods.
- (14) The Member State concerned must take account of these amendments when formulating the definitive text of the measure envisaged.

↓ 98/34/EC (adapted)

- (15) It is inherent in the internal market that, in particular where the principle of mutual recognition cannot be implemented by the Member States, the Commission adopts or proposes the adoption of binding acts. A specific temporary standstill period has been established in order to prevent the introduction of national measures from compromising the adoption of binding acts by  the European Parliament and  the Council or  by  the Commission in the same field.
- (16) The Member State in question must, pursuant to the general obligations laid down in Article 4(3) of the TEU, defer implementation of the contemplated measure for a period sufficient to allow either a joint examination of the proposed amendments or the preparation of a proposal for a  legislative  act or the adoption of a binding act of the Commission.

↓ 98/34/EC recital 18 (adapted)

- (17) With a view to facilitating the adoption of measures  by the European Parliament and the Council , Member States should refrain from adopting technical regulations once the Council has adopted a position  at first reading  on a Commission proposal concerning that sector.

↓ 98/34/EC recital 27 (adapted)

- (18) It is necessary to  envisage  a Standing Committee, the members of which  are  appointed by the Member States, with the task of cooperating in  the  efforts  of the Commission  to lessen any adverse effects on the free movement of goods.

↓ 98/34/EC recital 29 (adapted)

- (19) This Directive  should be without prejudice to  the obligations of the Member States  relating to the time-limits  for  the  transposition  into  national law of the directives set out in Annex III, Part B,

↓ 98/34/EC

- <sub>1</sub> (d) ← ‘other requirements’, a requirement, other than a technical specification, imposed on a product for the purpose of protecting, in particular, consumers or the environment, and which affects its life cycle after it has been placed on the market, such as conditions of use, recycling, reuse or disposal, where such conditions can significantly influence the composition or nature of the product or its marketing;

↓ 98/48/EC Art. 1 pt. 2(c)

For the purposes of this definition:

- (i) a rule shall be considered to be specifically aimed at Information Society services where, having regard to its statement of reasons and its operative part, the specific aim and object of all or some of its individual provisions is to regulate such services in an explicit and targeted manner,
- (ii) a rule shall not be considered to be specifically aimed at Information Society services if it affects such services only in an implicit or incidental manner;

↓ 98/48/EC Art. 1 pt. 2(e)

- (f) ‘technical regulation’, technical specifications and other requirements or rules on services, including the relevant administrative provisions, the observance of which is compulsory, de jure or de facto, in the case of marketing, provision of a service, establishment of a service operator or use in a Member State or a major part thereof, as well as laws, regulations or administrative provisions of Member States, except those provided for in Article 7, prohibiting the manufacture, importation, marketing or use of a product or prohibiting the provision or use of a service, or establishment as a service provider.

De facto technical regulations include:

- (i) laws, regulations or administrative provisions of a Member State which refer either to technical specifications or to other requirements or to rules on services, or to professional codes or codes of practice which in turn refer to technical specifications or to other requirements or to rules on services, compliance with which confers a presumption of conformity with the obligations imposed by the aforementioned laws, regulations or administrative provisions,

- (ii) voluntary agreements to which a public authority is a contracting party and which provide, in the general interest, for compliance with technical specifications or other requirements or rules on services, excluding public procurement tender specifications,
- (iii) technical specifications or other requirements or rules on services which are linked to fiscal or financial measures affecting the consumption of products or services by encouraging compliance with such technical specifications or other requirements or rules on services; technical specifications or other requirements or rules on services linked to national social security systems are not included.
