ITEMS DEBATED

HOME AFFAIRS

European Border and Coast Guard

The Council took note of the information provided by the Commission and the European Border and Coast Guard Agency (Frontex) on the implementation of the recently adopted regulation establishing a European Border and Coast Guard.

The European Border and Coast Guard regulation was adopted on 14 September 2016 and entered into force on 6 October 2016. The provisions related to the setting up of the reserve and technical equipment pools will enter into force on 7 December 2016 and those related to the return pools on 7 January 2017.

IT measures related to border management

The Council took note of a progress report (12661/16) on several files regarding information technology (IT) measures related to border management. Ministers had the opportunity to exchange views on the use of such measures and agreed to ensure a coherent approach.

Regarding the Commission proposal to reinforce the systematic checks at the external borders, Ministers stressed the importance of the security element and the appropriateness of the balance of the Council text between security and circulation. They expressed their hope that an agreement would be reached with the European Parliament as soon as possible along these lines.

The Commission announced that it would present a proposal on a European Travel Information and Authorisation System (ETIAS) by the end of this month.

The Bratislava Declaration and Roadmap, agreed by the leaders of the 27 member states on 16 September 2016, includes the following concrete measures:

- adoption of the necessary measures to ensure that all persons, including nationals from EU member states, crossing the Union's external borders will be checked against the relevant databases that must be interconnected;

- setting up of a European Travel Information and Authorisation System (ETIAS) to allow for advance checks and, if necessary, deny entry to visa-exempt travellers.

Migration

Home affairs ministers discussed the shortfalls in the implementation of the different migration measures adopted so far. They paid particular attention to the implementation of the EU-Turkey Statement and the situation in Italy and Greece, as well as to the state of play on relocation, resettlement, and the calls by the agencies for experts.

Ministers took good note of the recommendations proposed by the presidency and undertook in particular to increase the number of experts provided by member states to the agencies (especially EASO).

Reform of the Common European Asylum System

The Council took note of the state of play of the current examination of the proposals on the reform of the Common European Asylum System on the basis of a progress report prepared by the Presidency (12724/16).

Ministers endorsed the three-track approach suggested by the Presidency for the examination of the CEAS reform package proposals during its term:

- focusing on the examination of the Eurodac regulation and on the European Union Agency for Asylum regulation with the aim of achieving progress towards a Council general approach by the end of its term;

- in parallel, holding discussions on the Dublin regulation and the Asylum Procedures regulation, Reception Conditions directive and Qualification regulation;
- simultaneously, initiating the technical examination of the regulation establishing a Union Resettlement Framework.

The Council held a policy debate on the Eurodac regulation and the European Union Agency for Asylum regulation, on the basis of a note prepared by the Presidency (12726/16).

Regarding the Eurodac regulation, Ministers confirmed their support for a broader and simplified access by law enforcement authorities to Eurodac. As regards the EU Asylum Agency, some delegations expressed concerns about the Commission proposal and indicated that the Agency should not assume the role of the Commission in monitoring the implementation of EU law, but should instead support the asylum systems of member states. Some delegations agreed that the monitoring mechanism for the future Agency could be similar to the vulnerability assessment in the European Border and Coast Guard Regulation.

In both files, the Council tasked experts with examining possible ways of making the appropriate changes to these proposals, taking duly into account the results of the discussions.

Ministers also held a debate on the Union Resettlement Framework regulation on the basis of a note prepared by the Presidency (12717/16).

The Council tasked experts with continuing the examination of this proposal, taking into account the different views expressed during the debate.

Other business

The presidency updated the Council on the state of play of a number of legislative proposals.

The presidency reported to the Council on the results of the third Ministerial Conference of the Prague Process entitled "Addressing challenges together", which took place in Bratislava on 19-20 September 2016.

MIXED COMMITTEE

The Council in the Mixed Committee format (the EU plus Norway, Iceland, Liechtenstein and Switzerland) discussed the following items:

European Border Guard

See above.

IT measures related to border management

See above.

Migration

Other business

The presidency updated the committee on the state of play of a number of legislative proposals.

The Belgian delegation informed the committee about an EURES-CRIM project on returns.

JUSTICE

Fight against fraud to the Union's financial interests ("PIF" directive)

The Council continued the discussion (12686/1/16 REV 1) on the PIF directive. The discussion focused on the possible inclusion of some aspects of VAT fraud within the scope of the directive which is the key issue on which Council and Parliament could not agree at the latest trilogue meeting in June 2015.

A majority of ministers agreed that at least certain serious forms of cross-border VAT fraud (e.g. VAT carousels) should be included in the directive. In that respect, the text presented by the presidency was deemed as a good basis for further work and work will continue at working level, in particular with regards to the definition of VAT fraud (definition of the cross border element, of the threshold to qualify as a serious VAT fraud, etc.).

Once this is done, the Slovak presidency can revive trilogue negotiations with the Parliament with a view of finding a final agreement.

Ahead of the discussions at the Justice and Home affairs Council, the ECOFIN Council had held an exchange of views on this topic during its meeting on 11 October, as VAT matters are usually the responsibility of Finance ministries. (see outcome of the ECOFIN Council meeting).

The objective of the so-called PIF directive is to make criminal law enforcement more effective in cases involving the EU's budget so to deter fraudsters, improve the prosecution and sanctioning of crimes against the EU budget, and facilitate the recovery of misused EU funds.

The proposed directive provides common definitions of a number of offences against the EU budget, such as fraud, and other fraud related crimes such as active and passive corruption, the misappropriation of funds, money laundering and minimum rules on prescription periods, within which the case must be investigated and prosecuted, as well as minimum rules on sanctions, including imprisonment for the most serious cases to strengthen the deterrent effect. These common rules should help to ensure a level playing field and improved investigation and prosecution across the EU.

The Council has adopted its general approach at first reading on the draft directive in June 2013(10232/13). At the latest trilogue in June 2015, the Parliament and the Council came close to an agreement. However, the two institutions concluded that they were still in disagreement on one key issue, namely the inclusion or not of VAT related fraud in the scope of the directive.

European Public Prosecutor's Office

The Council continued the discussion on the proposed regulation. As an input in the debate the Commission presented an updated cost-benefit analysis to reflect substantial changes made to the initial text.

The presidency noted there was a broad conceptual support for the last set of articles of the regulation which had not been discussed during previous sessions. Those remaining articles relate to the rules on judicial review, the cooperation with third countries and with non-participating member states, and the relations with Eurojust. However, the presidency noted that some delegations still raised some concerns that will have to be further discussed during the finalisation of the text.

Ministers then had the opportunity to express outstanding substantial concerns on the full text as it stands now. They invited experts to continue negotiations with a view of finding a definitive agreement on this regulation.

The proposed regulation aims at helping combat crimes against the EU's financial interests by introducing a European Public Prosecutor's Office with competence in that area. The proposed regulation requires the unanimous support in the Council which adopts it after having obtained the consent of the European Parliament. The proposal was presented by the Commission on 17 July 2013.

In previous meetings, the Council has already reached a provisional agreement on a number of articles, including the structure and organisation of the Office, the rules on investigation and prosecution, the case management system and data protection, simplified prosecution procedures, general provisions and financial and staff provisions.
