'A' ITEM NOTE

No. prev. doc.: 5434/17

Subject: Proposal for a Directive on the protection of the Union's financial interests by means of criminal law
- Political agreement

1. On 12 July 2012 the Commission presented a proposal ¹ for a Directive on the protection of the Union's financial interests by means of criminal law.
2. The draft Directive aims to establish necessary measures to ensure an effective, proportionate and dissuasive protection of the Union's financial interests by means of criminal law.
3. The Council agreed on a general approach on the draft Directive on 6 June 2013 ², thereby giving the Presidency a negotiating mandate to enter into trilogues with the European Parliament.
4. The European Parliament adopted its position on the draft Directive at first reading on 16 April 2014 ³.

³ Doc 9024/14.

5. Following seven trilogues between 2014 and 2016, the Presidency and the representatives of the European Parliament assisted by the Commission, on 30 November 2016 reached an agreement on the overall compromise text that appears in the Annex.
6. In a joint meeting that was held on 12 January 2017, the Budgetary Control Committee (CONT) and the Civil Liberties, Justice and Home Affairs Committee (LIBE) of the European Parliament voted and approved the text of the draft Directive as issued after the interinstitutional negotiations. The Chairs of the said Committees, Ms Inge Gräßle and Mr Claude Moraes, addressed a letter to the President of the Permanent Representatives Committee stating that, if this text was to be transmitted formally to the European Parliament as the Council's first reading position for this legislative proposal, they will recommend to the Members of the CONT and LIBE Committees and subsequently to the Plenary that the Council's first reading position be accepted without amendments in the Parliament's second reading, subject to the verification by the lawyer linguists of both institutions.
7. The Permanent Representatives Committee, at its meeting on 25 January 2017, advised the Council to reach political agreement on the text of the Directive as set out in the Annex to this note. The Cyprus, German, Hungarian, Irish, Maltese and Polish delegations thereby declared that they are not in favour of the current compromise text.
8. The Council is thus invited to reach political agreement on the text of the Directive as set out in the Annex to this note.

Proposal for a

DIRECTIVE OF THE EUROPEAN PARLIAMENT AND OF THE COUNCIL

on the fight against fraud to the Union's financial interests by means of criminal law

THE EUROPEAN PARLIAMENT AND THE COUNCIL OF THE EUROPEAN UNION,

Having regard to the Treaty on the Functioning of the European Union, and in particular Article 83 (2) thereof,

Having regard to the proposal from the European Commission,

After transmission of the draft legislative act to the national Parliaments,

Having regard to the opinion of the European Court of Auditors⁴,

Acting in accordance with the ordinary legislative procedure,

Whereas:

- (1) The protection of the Union's financial interests concerns not only the management of budget appropriations, but extends to all measures negatively affecting or threatening to negatively affect its assets, and those of the Member States to the extent they are of relevance to Union policies.

⁴ OJ C , , p. .

- (2) The Convention for the protection of the European Communities' financial interests of 26 July 1995 ⁵, including the Protocols thereto of 27 September 1996 ⁶, of 29 November 1996 ⁷ and of 19 June 1997 ⁸ ('the Convention') establishes minimum rules relating to the definition of criminal offences and sanctions in the area of fraud affecting the Union's financial interests. The Convention was drawn up by the Member States which noted that fraud affecting Union revenue and expenditure in many cases was not confined to a single country and was often committed by organised criminal networks; on that basis, it was already recognised in that Convention that the protection of the Union's financial interests called for the criminal prosecution of fraudulent conduct injuring those interests. In parallel, Council Regulation (EC, Euratom) No 2988/95⁹ was adopted. That Regulation lays down general rules relating to homogenous checks and to administrative measures and penalties concerning irregularities with regard to Union law while, at the same time, referring to sectoral rules in this area, fraudulent actions as defined in the Convention and the application of the Member States' criminal law and proceedings.
- (3) In order to ensure the implementation of the Union policy in the area of the protection of the Union's financial interests which has been the subject of harmonisation measures such as Council Regulation (EC, Euratom) No 2988/95, it is essential to continue to approximate the criminal laws of the Member States by complementing the protection under administrative and civil law for the most serious types of fraud-related conduct in this field, whilst avoiding inconsistencies, both within and among these areas of law.

⁸ OJ C 221, 19.7.1997, p. 11.

- (4) The protection of the Union's financial interests calls for a common definition of fraud falling within the scope of this Directive and covering fraudulent conduct with respect to expenditure and revenues and assets at the expense of the general budget of the European Union (the 'Union' budget), including financial operations such as borrowing and lending activities. The notion of serious offences against the common VAT system as established by Council Directive 2006/112/EC refers to the most serious forms of VAT fraud, in particular carousel fraud, fraud through missing traders and VAT fraud committed within a criminal organisation which creates serious threats to the common VAT system and thus, to the Union budget. Offences against the common VAT system should be considered serious when they are connected with the territory of two or more Member States of the Union, result from fraudulent scheme whereby these offences are committed in a structured way with the aim to take undue advantage of the common VAT system and involve a total damage caused by the offences exceeds the threshold of EUR 10 millions. The notion of total damage refers to the estimated damage, both for the financial interests of the Member States concerned and for the Union, which results from the entire fraud scheme. This excludes interests rates or penalties. This Directive aims to contribute to the efforts to fight these criminal phenomena.
- (4a) When the Commission implements the budget under shared or indirect management, it may delegate budget implementation tasks to the Member States, or entrust them to agencies or bodies established pursuant to the Treaties or certain other entities and persons. In any of these cases, the Union's financial interests should enjoy the same level of protection as under direct management by the Commission.
- (4b) For the purposes of this Directive, procurement-related expenditure is any expenditure in connection with the public contracts determined by Article 101(1) of Regulation No 966/2012¹⁰ on financial rules applicable to the general budget of the Union.

¹⁰ Regulation (EU, EURATOM) No 966/2012 of the European Parliament and of the Council of 25 October 2012 on the financial rules applicable to the general budget of the Union and repealing Council Regulation (EC, Euratom) No 1605/2002, OJ L 298, 20.10.2012, p. 1.

- (5) The Union money laundering legislation is fully applicable to the laundering of proceeds of criminal offences referred to in this Directive. A reference made to that legislation should ensure that the sanction regime introduced by this Directive applies to all serious cases of criminal offences against the Union's financial interest.
- (6) Corruption constitutes a particularly serious threat to the Union's financial interests, which can in many cases also be linked to fraudulent conduct. As any public official has the duty to exercise judgment or discretion impartially, giving bribes in order to influence the public official's judgment or discretion and taking such bribes should fall under the definitions of corruption irrespective of the law or regulations of the particular official's country or international organisation.
- (7) The Union's financial interests can be negatively affected by certain types of conduct of a public official who is entrusted with the management of funds or assets, be it in charge or in a supervisory function, which aim at misappropriating funds or assets contrary to the intended purpose, where the Union's financial interests are thereby damaged. There is therefore a need to introduce a precise definition of offences covering such conduct.
- (8) As regards the offences of passive corruption and misappropriation, there is a need to include a definition of public officials covering all relevant officials, whether holding a formal office in the Union in the Member States or in third countries. Private persons are increasingly involved in the management of Union funds. In order to adequately protect Union funds from corruption and misappropriation, the definition of 'public official' therefore needs to cover also persons who do not hold a formal office, but nonetheless are assigned and exercising, in a similar manner, a public service function in relation to Union funds, such as contractors involved in the management of such funds.
- (9) With regard to the criminal offences provided for in this Directive, the notion of intention must apply to all the elements constituting those offences. The intentional nature of an act or omission may be inferred from objective, factual circumstances. Offences by natural persons which do not require intention are not covered by this Directive.

- (10) This Directive does not oblige Member States to provide for sanctions that consist of imprisonment for perpetrators of criminal offences that are not of a serious nature, in cases where intent is presumed under national law.
- (11) Some offences against the Union's financial interests are in practice often closely related to the offences covered by Article 83 (1) of the Treaty and Union legislation based on that Article. Coherence between such legislation and this Directive should therefore be ensured in the wording of the provisions.
- (12) In as much as the Union's financial interests can also be damaged or threatened by conduct attributable to legal persons, they should be liable for the criminal offences, as defined in this Directive, committed on their behalf.
- (13) In order to protect the Union's financial interests equivalently through measures which should act as a deterrent throughout the Union, Member States should further provide for certain types and levels of sanctions when the criminal offences defined in this Directive are committed. The levels of sanctions should not go beyond what is proportionate for the offences.
- (14) As this Directive provides for minimum rules, Member States are free to adopt or maintain more stringent rules for criminal offences affecting the Union's financial interests.
- (15) This Directive does not affect the proper and effective application of disciplinary measures or penalties other than of a criminal nature. Sanctions of another nature, that cannot be equated to criminal penalties, and which are already imposed on the same person for the same conduct, can be taken into account when sentencing that person for a criminal offence defined under this Directive. For other sanctions, the principle of ne bis in idem should be fully respected. This Directive does not criminalise behaviour which is not also subject to disciplinary penalties or other measures concerning a breach of official duties, in cases where such disciplinary penalties or other measures can be applied to the persons concerned.

- (16) The sanctions for natural persons should in certain cases provide for a maximum penalty of imprisonment of at least four years. These should at least include cases involving considerable damages done or advantages gained, whereby the damages or advantages should be presumed to be considerable when involving more than EUR 100 000. Those Member States whose legal systems do not in legislation provide for an explicit threshold for considerable damage or advantage as a basis for maximum penalty should ensure that the amount of damage or advantage is duly taken into account by their courts in the determination of sanctions for fraud and fraud related offences. The Directive does not prevent Member States from providing for other elements which would indicate a serious nature of an offence, for instance when the damage or advantage is potential, yet of very considerable nature. However, for the offences against the common VAT system the threshold over which an offence should be presumed to be considerable is, in conformity with the Directive, EUR 10 million.

The introduction of minimum levels of maximum imprisonment sanctions is necessary in order to guarantee that the Union's financial interests are given an equivalent protection throughout the Union. The sanctions will serve as a strong deterrent for potential criminals, with effect all over the Union.

- (17) Member States should ensure that when the offence was committed within a criminal organisation in the sense of Council Framework Decision 2008/841/JHA¹¹, this should be considered an aggravating circumstance in accordance with the applicable rules established by their legal systems. They should ensure that this aggravating circumstance is available for judges to consider when sentencing offenders, although there is no obligation for judges to apply those aggravating circumstances. Member States are not obliged to provide for the aggravating circumstance when in national law the offences in the sense of Council Framework Decision 2008/841 are criminalised as a separate offence and may lead to more severe sanction levels.

- (18) Given in particular the mobility of perpetrators and of proceeds stemming from illegal activities at the expense of the Union's financial interests, as well as the complex cross-border investigations which this entails, all Member States should establish their jurisdiction in order to enable them to counter these activities. Member States should thereby ensure that their jurisdiction includes situations where an offence is committed by means of information and communication technology accessed from their territory.
- (18a) Given the possible multiple jurisdictions for cross-border offences falling under the scope of this Directive, the Member States should ensure that the principle of ne bis in idem is respected in full in the application of national law transposing this Directive.
- (19) Member States should lay down rules concerning periods of limitation necessary in order to enable them to counter illegal activities at the expense of the Union's financial interests. In cases of offences punishable by a maximum sanction of at least four years of imprisonment, the period of limitation should be at least five years from the time when the offence was committed. This is without prejudice to those Member States which do not set periods of limitation for investigation, prosecution and enforcement.

- (21) Without prejudice to the rules on cross-border cooperation and mutual legal assistance in criminal matters and to other rules under Union law, in particular under Regulation (EU, Euratom) No 883/2013¹² of the European Parliament and of the Council concerning investigations conducted by the European Anti-Fraud Office (OLAF), there is a need for appropriate provision to be made for cooperation between Member States and the Commission to ensure effective action against the criminal offences defined in this Directive affecting the Union's financial interests, including exchange of information between the Member States and the Commission as well as technical and operational assistance lent by the Commission to the competent national authorities as they may need to facilitate coordination of their investigations.

The assistance by the Commission should not entail the participation of the Commission in the investigation or prosecution procedures of individual criminal cases conducted by the national authorities. The Court of Auditors and auditors responsible for auditing the budgets of the institutions, bodies and agencies should disclose to OLAF and to other competent authorities any fact which could be qualified as a criminal offence under this Directive, and Member States should ensure that national audit bodies, as defined in Article 59 of Regulation 966/2012¹³, do the same, in accordance with Article 8 in Regulation 883/2013.

- (22) The Commission should report to the European Parliament and the Council on the measures taken by Member States to comply with the Directive. The report may be accompanied, if necessary, by proposals taking into consideration possible evolutions, in particular regarding the financing of the Union budget.

¹³ Regulation (EU, EURATOM) No 966/2012 of the European Parliament and of the Council of 25 October 2012 on the financial rules applicable to the general budget of the Union and repealing Council Regulation (EC, Euratom) No 1605/2002 (OJ L 298, 26.10.2012, p. 1).

- (23) The Convention for the protection of the European Communities' financial interests of 26 July 1995¹⁴ and the Protocols thereto of 27 September 1996¹⁵ and 29 November 1996¹⁶ and of 19 June 1997¹⁷ should be replaced by this Directive in relation to Member States bound by this Directive.
- (23a) For the application of Article 3(4)(d) of Directive 2015/849, the reference to serious fraud affecting the Union's financial interests as defined in in Article 1(1) and Article 2(1) of the Convention on the protection of the European Communities' financial interests, should be construed as fraud affecting the Union's financial interests as defined in Article 3 and in Article 7(3) or, as regards offences against the common VAT system, in Article 2(2) of this Directive.
- (24) Proper implementation of this Directive by the Member States includes the processing of personal data among the competent national authorities, and its exchange between Member States, on the one hand, and between competent Union bodies on the other hand. The processing of personal data at the national level between national competent authorities should be regulated by the acquis. The exchange of personal data between Member States should meet the requirements of Council Framework Decision 2008/977/JHA¹⁸. To the extent personal data are processed by Union institutions, bodies, agencies and offices, they should comply with Regulation (EC) No 45/2001 of the European Parliament and of the Council¹⁹ and with the applicable rules concerning the confidentiality of judicial investigations.

¹⁶ OJ C 151, 20.5.1997, p. 1.

¹⁷ OJ C 221, 19.7.1997, p. 11.

¹⁸ Council Framework Decision 2008/977/JHA of 27 November 2008 on the protection of personal data processed in the framework of police and judicial cooperation in criminal matters (OJ L 350, 30.12.2008, p. 60).

¹⁹ Regulation (EC) No 45/2001 of the European Parliament and of the Council of 18 December 2000 on the protection of individuals with regard to the processing of personal data by the Community institutions and bodies and on the free movement of such data (OJ L 8, 12.1.2001, p. 1).

- (25) The intended dissuasive effect of the application of criminal law sanctions requires particular caution with regard to fundamental rights. This Directive respects fundamental rights and observes the principles recognised in particular by the Charter of Fundamental Rights of the European Union and in particular the right to liberty and security, the protection of personal data, the freedom to choose an occupation and right to engage in work, the freedom to conduct a business, the right to property, the right to an effective remedy and to a fair trial, the presumption of innocence and the right of defence, the principles of the legality and proportionality of criminal offences and sanctions, as well as the prohibition of being tried or punished twice in criminal proceedings for the same criminal offence (ne bis in idem). This Directive seeks to ensure full respect for those rights and principles and must be implemented accordingly.
- (25a) Member States should take the necessary measures to ensure the prompt recovery of such sums and their transfer to the Union budget, without prejudice to the relevant Union sector-specific rules on financial corrections and recovery of amounts unduly spent.
- (25b) Administrative measures and penalties play an important role in the protection of the Union's financial interests. This Directive does not exempt Member States from the obligation to apply and implement administrative Union measures and penalties within the meaning of Article 4 and 5 of Regulation (EC, Euratom) No 2988/95.

- (25c) This Directive should oblige Member States to provide in their national legislation for criminal penalties in respect of the acts of fraud and fraud related criminal offences affecting the Union's financial interests to which this Directive applies. This Directive should not create obligations regarding the application of such penalties or any other available system of law enforcement, to individual cases. Member States may in principle continue to apply administrative measures and penalties in parallel in the area covered by the Directive. In the application of national law transposing this Directive, Member States should however ensure that the imposition of criminal sanctions of offences in accordance with this Directive and of administrative measures and penalties does not lead to a breach of the Charter of Fundamental rights.
- (25d) This Directive should not affect the competences of Member States to structure and organise their tax administration as they see fit to ensure the correct determination, assessment and collection of value added tax, as well as the effective application of VAT legislation.
- (26) This Directive will apply without prejudice to the provisions on the lifting of the immunities contained in the Treaty, the Protocol on the Privileges and Immunities of the European Union, the Statute of the Court of Justice and the texts implementing them, or similar provisions incorporated in national law. In the transposition of this Directive into national law as well as in the application of national law transposing this Directive, those privileges and immunities, including the respect of the freedom of Members' mandate, are fully taken into account.
- (27) This Directive is without prejudice to the general rules and principles of national criminal law on the application and execution of sentences in accordance with the concrete circumstances in each individual case.

- (28) Since the objective of this Directive cannot be sufficiently achieved by the Member States but can rather, by reasons of the scale and effects, be better achieved at Union level, the Union may adopt measures, in accordance with the principle of subsidiarity as set out in Article 5 of the Treaty on European Union. In accordance with the principle of proportionality, as set out in that Article, this Directive does not go beyond what is necessary to achieve that objective.
- (29) In accordance with Article 3 and 4a(1) of the Protocol (No 21) on the position of United Kingdom and Ireland in respect of the area of Freedom, Security and Justice, annexed to the Treaty on European Union and the Treaty on the Functioning of the European Union, Ireland has notified its wish to take part in the adoption and application of this Directive.
- (30) In accordance with Articles 1 and 2 of the Protocol (No 21) on the position of the United Kingdom and Ireland in respect of the Area of Freedom, Security and Justice, annexed to the TEU and to the TFEU, and without prejudice to Article 4 of that Protocol, the United Kingdom is not taking part in the adoption of this Directive and is not bound by it or subject to its application.
- (31) In accordance with Articles 1 and 2 of Protocol (No 22) on the position of Denmark annexed to the Treaty on European Union and to the Treaty on the Functioning of the European Union, Denmark is not taking part in the adoption of this Directive and is not bound by it or subject to its application.

HAVE ADOPTED THIS DIRECTIVE:

Title I: Subject matter and definition

Article 1

Subject matter

This Directive establishes minimum rules concerning the definition of criminal offences and sanctions in the field of the fight against fraud and other illegal activities affecting the Union's financial interests, with a view to contributing effectively to a stronger protection against crime affecting those financial interests, in line with the acquis of the Union in this field.

- (a) in respect of non-procurement related expenditure, any act or omission relating to:
 - (i) the use or presentation of false, incorrect or incomplete statements or documents, which has as its effect the misappropriation or wrongful retention of funds or assets from the Union budget or budgets managed by the Union, or on its behalf,

 - (ii) non-disclosure of information in violation of a specific obligation, with the same effect, or
 - (iii) the misapplication of such funds for purposes other than those for which they were originally granted, which damages the Union's financial interests;

 - (ii) non-disclosure of VAT-related information in violation of a specific obligation, with the same effect;
 - (iii) the presentation of correct VAT-related statements for the purposes of fraudulent disguising of non payment or of wrongful creation of rights to VAT refunds.

Article 4

Fraud related criminal offences affecting the Union's financial interests

1. Member States shall take the necessary measures to ensure that money laundering as defined in Article 1 (3) of Directive 2015/849 of the European Parliament and of the Council ²⁰ involving property derived from the offences covered by this Directive, constitutes a criminal offence.
2. Member States shall take the necessary measures to ensure that passive and active corruption, when committed intentionally, constitute criminal offences.
 - (a) For the purposes of this Directive, passive corruption means the action of a public official, who, directly or through an intermediary, requests or receives advantages of any kind whatsoever, for himself or for a third party, or accepts a promise of such an advantage, to act or to refrain from acting in accordance with his duty or in the exercise of his functions in a way which damages or is likely to damage the Union's financial interests;
 - (b) For the purposes of this Directive, active corruption means the action of whosoever promises, offers or gives, directly or through an intermediary, an advantage of any kind whatsoever to a public official for himself or for a third party for him to act or to refrain from acting in accordance with his duty or in the exercise of his functions in a way which damages or is likely to damage the Union's financial interests;

3. Member States shall take the necessary measures to ensure that misappropriation, when committed intentionally, constitutes a criminal offence.

For the purposes of this Directive, misappropriation means an act by any public official who is directly or indirectly entrusted with the management of funds or assets, to commit or disburse funds or appropriate or use assets, contrary to the purpose for which they were intended, and which damages the Union's financial interests.

(i) the term 'Union' official shall mean:

any person who is an official or other contracted employee within the meaning of the Staff Regulations of Officials of the European Union or the Conditions of Employment of Other Servants of the European Union, any person seconded to the European Union by the Member States or by any public or private body, who carries out functions equivalent to those performed by European officials or other servants.

Without prejudice to the provisions on privileges and immunities contained in Protocols 3 and 7 annexed to the TEU and the TFEU, Members of institutions, bodies, offices and agencies, set up in accordance with the Treaties and the staff of such bodies shall be assimilated to Union officials, inasmuch as the Staff Regulations of the European Union or the Conditions of Employment of Other Servants of the European Union do not apply to them;

(ii) the term 'national official' shall be understood by reference to the definition of 'official' or 'public official' in the national law of the Member State or third country in which the person in question performs the function.

Nevertheless, in the case of proceedings involving an official of a Member State, or a national official of a third country, initiated by another Member State the latter shall not be bound to apply the definition of 'national official' except in so far as the definition is compatible with its national law.

The term 'national official' shall include any person holding an executive, administrative or judicial office at national, regional or local level. Any person holding a legislative office at national, regional and local level shall be assimilated to a national official.

(b) any other person assigned and exercising a public service function involving the management of or decisions concerning the Union's financial interests in Member States or third countries.

 - (a) a power of representation of the legal person;
 - (b) an authority to take decisions on behalf of the legal person; or
 - (c) an authority to exercise control within the legal person.

2. Member States shall also take the necessary measures to ensure that legal persons can be held liable where the lack of supervision or control by a person referred to in paragraph 1 has made possible the commission, of any of the criminal offences referred to in Articles 3, 4 and 5 for the benefit of that legal person by a person under its authority.
3. Liability of a legal person under paragraphs 1 and 2 shall not exclude criminal proceedings against natural persons who are perpetrators of the criminal offences referred to in Articles 3 and 4 or criminally liable under Article 5.
4. For the purpose of this Directive, 'legal person' means any entity having legal personality under the applicable law, except for States or public bodies in the exercise of State authority and for public international organisations.

Article 7

1. As regards natural persons, Member States shall ensure that the criminal offences referred to in Articles 3, 4 and 5 shall be punishable by effective, proportionate and dissuasive criminal sanctions.
2. Member States shall take the necessary measures to ensure that the offences referred to in Articles 3 and 4 shall be punishable by a maximum penalty which provides for imprisonment.
3. Member States shall take the necessary measures to ensure that the criminal offences referred to in Articles 3 and 4 shall be punishable by a maximum penalty of at least four years of imprisonment when they involve considerable damages or advantages. The damages or advantages of the criminal offences referred to in Article 3(a), (b) and (c) and Article 4 shall be presumed to be considerable when involving more than 100 000 euros.
