Statement by Greece

"Greece regrets that the adoption of the Commission's proposal for Council Implementing Decision setting out a recommendation for prolonging temporary internal border control in exceptional circumstances, for a temporary period of another three months, is based, among others, on the assumption that “an important number of irregular migrants still remains in Greece and, based on trends observed in the past, the Member States most affected by the secondary movements of irregular migrants coming from Greece, remain exposed to the risk related to their irregular movements””.

Greece underlines that there is no concrete evidence for secondary movements from its territory to other EU Member States. Since the November 2015 evaluation, all border controls and patrols at all BCPs of Greece have been further tightened. Among others, in the framework of the National Operation ‘SARISA’, Greece has taken all necessary measures in close cooperation with FRONTEX to prevent and deter any attempt of absconding from the mainland to the north, including to the former Yugoslav Republic of Macedonia. The situation is monitored constantly and assessed as sustainable.

Additionally, Greece managed to implement fully, timely and effectively in the framework of its action plan almost all the recommendations that have been set by Commission¹ and Council² as cited in recital (5). Consequently, Greece recalls that Article 29 of the SBC may be triggered as a last resort and only when the conditions of article 21(3) are met and the Commission finds that the overall functioning of the Schengen area is put at risk as a result of persistent serious deficiencies, relating to external border control.

Moreover, the asylum applications may not be considered as a relevant factor to the prolongation of the temporary internal border controls and Greece cannot see the reasoning behind the Commission's assertion that the five Member States implementing internal border controls should be reporting on the number of asylum applications received by Schengen States recital (14).

Greece considers that the prolongation of the internal borders control within the Schengen area cannot be justified under the legal basis of article 29 of the Schengen code and it moreover lacks of proportionality.

In this context, Greece cannot agree to the proposal for this Council Implementing Decision."

¹ Commission implementing decision of 24.2.2016 setting out a recommendation on specific measures to be taken by the Hellenic Republic following the evaluation report of 2 February 2016.

² Council implementing Decision setting out a Recommendation on addressing the serious deficiencies identified in the 2015 evaluation on the application of the Schengen acquis in the field of management of the external borders, 12 February, 2016 (5809/16 SCH-EVAL 17 FRONT 51 COMIX 81).

Statement by the Republic of Slovenia

"The Republic of Slovenia does not support the Commission's proposal for prolonging the border control on the internal land border between Slovenia and Austria for another 3 months. The European Commission justifies the permission to prolong temporary border controls for the same Member States and at the same sections of the borders with the need to adequately address the serious threat to public policy and internal security related to the secondary movements of irregular migrants. Additionally, measures needed in the implementation of the European Border and Coast Guard regulation and the number of asylum seekers in Greece were cited as reasons for the Commission's proposal.

Slovenia can not support the further prolongation of border controls, especially as regards the border between Slovenia and Austria, since the relevant facts no longer support the need for continued border control on the internal land borders. The European Border and Coast Guard has been established and is performing tasks as envisaged by the new legal framework and the EU – Turkey Statement is being implemented. Greece has made substantial progress and is managing illegal migration considerably better than in the past, which is proven by the significant decrease in the numbers of illegal migrants travelling through the Western Balkans route.

Objectively, threats to the Schengen area can be justified by official statistical data on illegal border crossings, which have serious implications for internal security of a particular state. The total number of persons received from the Austrian authorities in 2016, which stood at 76 persons, cannot be said to constitute a foundation to substantiate such a threat.

The Republic of Slovenia has been fully implementing the Schengen legal order and will continue to do so in the future. Slovenia is convinced that the current circumstances no longer justify the radical interference in fundamental values of the Schengen order in the form of internal border controls and therefore opposes the adoption of this recommendation."

Statement by France

"La France remercie la Commission européenne et les groupes de travail mis en place pour la rédaction des règlements délégués et d'exécution relatifs au règlement (UE) 2016/1628 du Parlement et du Conseil sur les exigences concernant les limites d'émissions pour les gaz polluants et les particules polluantes et la réception par type pour les moteurs à combustion interne destinés aux engins mobiles non routiers du 14 septembre 2016.

Les autorités françaises n'ont pas d'objection à l'adoption de ces différents textes mais souhaitent porter à la connaissance des États membres leur souhait de parvenir à une reconnaissance par équivalence automatique et directe - c'est-à-dire sans recourir à des adaptations des moteurs ni à des tests de réception supplémentaires -, pour une utilisation sur des bateaux de navigation intérieure, des moteurs de poids lourds conformes à la norme Euro VI dont la réception est délivrée en conformité avec le règlement (CE) n°595/2009.

La rédaction actuelle de l'annexe XIII du projet de règlement délégué (15755/16 ADD4) relatif aux prescriptions techniques impose un réexamen pour chaque type de moteur, générateur de charge administrative et de coûts supplémentaires pour les entreprises concernées. Les autorités françaises craignent que la mise en place d'une série spécifique de moteurs poids lourds Euro VI répondant aux exigences des appendices 1 et 2 de l'annexe IV du règlement délégué relatif aux prescriptions techniques ne conduise à augmenter le coût unitaire de ces moteurs.

À l'inverse, une équivalence directe et automatique des moteurs routiers fabriqués en grande série permettrait aux entreprises de transport fluvial, majoritairement des PME, d'équiper leurs bateaux de moteurs répondant à des normes d'émissions polluantes plus strictes que celles imposées par le règlement EMNR à des coûts abordables. Ceci contribuerait ainsi de façon significative à l'amélioration des performances environnementales de ce secteur du point de vue de la qualité de l'air, conformément à l'objectif poursuivi par le règlement.

Ainsi, afin de supprimer une barrière technique qui empêcherait les transporteurs fluviaux, notamment les petites entreprises, d'équiper leurs bateaux de moteurs très peu polluants à un coût acceptable, les autorités souhaitent que soient apportées ultérieurement des modifications au règlement délégué relatif aux prescriptions techniques."
