The Committee took note of the follow-up note circulated by the EEAS.

In connection to the severe floods in Bosnia-Herzegovina, Croatia and Serbia, three delegations requested that the Commission examine the possibility, in cases where Member States, candidate countries as well as bordering non-candidate third countries are affected by natural disasters, to allow for exceptional use of the EU Solidarity Fund also to third countries. The Committee briefly discussed the Presidency note, which was broadly welcomed by delegations.

The Chair clarified at the outset of the debate that the questions outlined in the note are addressed to Ministers rather than to the Committee, and that the Presidency is not looking for formal endorsement of the text in annex. 15 delegations took the floor, mainly to make minor suggestions on the formulation of the questions to ministers. The Presidency will take these suggestions into account and issue a revised note to the Council. The Commission and some delegations (AT, BE, BG, LU) regretted the content of the Annex to the note, arguing that the current text will not ensure the efficiency and the independence of the Office.

An important number of delegations indicated that they would be able to support a partial general approach on Chapter V on the understanding that the caveats referred to in the Presidency note applied.

Regarding the three questions set out in the Presidency note, it was concluded that JHA Counsellors would try to further fine-tune the proposed solutions and that the Committee would revert to the issue at its session of 28 May 2014.

The Romanian delegation indicated that they would submit the following statement to the minutes of the Committee :

"It is Romania's understanding that the EU Anti-corruption Report aims at promoting high anti-corruption standards across the EU, based on a comprehensive approach as well as on principles such as equal treatment, non-discrimination and cooperation between the Union and the Member States.

Furthermore, in line with the Commission's Communication on Fighting corruption in the EU issued in June 2011, Romania considers that the EU Anti-corruption Report, applicable equally to all EU Member States, will further provide a clearer overview of the existence and effectiveness of anti-corruption efforts in the EU and provide grounds for future EU policy actions.

Romania also appreciates the added value of this report in ensuring an inclusive approach on anti-corruption efforts, which is also relevant from the perspective of the existing instruments applicable in this area."

The Committee confirmed that there was a large blocking minority against the adoption of the Council Decisions on the basis of the Commission proposal and recommendation, set out in 8994/14 + ADD 1 and 8988/14, and decided not to pursue the matters further.

A number of delegations called for pursuing the discussion on the representation in international organisations in the post-Lisbon period at a political level. They considered this issue of horizontal nature of great political sensitivity, which has an impact on decisions to be taken by Council preparatory bodies in other areas.

The Commission requested the following oral statement to the minutes of the Committee:

"The Commission recalls the obligation of sincere cooperation between Member States and the Commission in all circumstances.

The absence of these decisions will lead to a situation which is not in compliance with the Treaties as Member States are legally not free to make legal commitments on issues of Union competence in international negotiations without the framework of Union decisions. The Commission will assess the appropriate measures to take in this regard.

The Commission recalls the need to respect Union competences, to avoid any incompatibility between the Union acquis and the ILO instruments to be negotiated and for Member States to act in the interests of the EU at the ILO."

AGRI 347 POLGEN 62 CODEC 1242

The Committee examined the Presidency's compromise text set out in 9659/14 and made some progress in agreeing to reflect, in recitals, the indicative nature of targets for advanced biofuels, to extend reporting requirements on national targets and to retain a Finnish proposal on biofuels made from feedstocks not listed in Annex IX. At the same time several delegations recalled their lack of flexibility concerning the 7 % threshold for 1st-generation biofuels as well as their wish to see the indicative nature of targets for advanced biofuels reflected in the operative part of the Directives as well. The Committee will return to the file on 28 May 2014.
