6. Elements for a payment plan

- Presentation by the Commission (Vice-President Georgieva)

The Vice-President gave a presentation on the Commission's payment plan. She elaborated on the expected situation by heading and drew lessons for the future, including the continuation of the Commission's "active management" and the need for Member States to advance the implementation of the Cohesion policy earlier in the programming period. Ms Georgieva indicated that the Commission will include in its Draft Budget for 2016 a level of appropriations allowing the phasing out of the abnormal backlog for 2007-2013 programmes. She concluded that the issue of the backlog would be solved by the end of 2016 "provided we have a prudent budget for 2016".

Following the intervention by the Vice-President, some MEPs criticised the lack of concrete measures, which in their view should have been part of the document. Ms Gardiazábal and Mr Deprez indicated that the analysis carried out was a forecast of payments rather than a proper payment plan. They also pointed out that the plan did not cover the whole MFF period. Mr Lewandowski considered that the assumptions included in the paper were optimistic, expecting a lot of tension in the last years of the current programming period.

Vice-President Georgieva acknowledged that within the current MFF, it would still be necessary to prioritise. She committed to continue the discussions with Parliament and Council.

8. Improving the functioning of the European Union building on the potential of the Lisbon Treaty

Rapporteur for the opinion: Jean Arthuis (ALDE)

Responsible: AFCO: Elmar Brok (PPE) + Mercedes Bresso (S&D)

- Exchange of views

In his draft opinion, Mr Arthuis advocated a more prominent role of the Parliament during the MFF negotiations, suggesting the alignment of the MFF periods with the parliamentary terms of five years and inviting the European Council to abandon its unanimity voting rule. The rapporteur also called on the Council to return to the spirit of the Treaties by providing the European Budget with genuine own resources instead of relying on GNI-based contributions. He finally indicated that the use of the Budget as a guarantee was placing the Union in a state of potential indebtedness, contrary to the principle of budgetary equilibrium.

Draft calendar:

22.04	Deadline for tabling amendments
06.05 (tbc)	Consideration of amendments and vote in the BUDG Committee
July / September	Vote in the AFCO Committee

9. European Parliament's estimates of revenue and expenditure for the financial year 2016

Rapporteur: Gérard Deprez (ALDE)

- Indicative vote

The rapporteur presented the outcome of the negotiations with the Bureau, following three conciliation meetings. In the final agreement, the budget initially proposed by the Parliament's Secretary-General was finally decreased by - EUR 11,82 million, leading to an overall increase of +2,4% in comparison to the Parliament's budget for 2015. A maximum of EUR 15 million would be devoted to the reinforcement of the security in 2016, including measures against cyber-crime.

Regarding Parliament's establishment plan and the 5% staff reduction target, the rapporteur proposed a reduction of - 59 posts (out of which 2 posts to be transferred to the Commission). On the other hand, he endorsed the creation of additional posts to reinforce the security (+25), the secretariats of four parliamentary committees (+20) and the management of local assistants (+3).

Mr Deprez also announced that as of 1st of January 2016, the MEP's secretariat allowance would increase by + EUR 1 500 per month, subject to the adoption of a new regulation for the engagement of local assistants.

The Committee endorsed the Parliament's estimates of revenue and expenditure for 2016 by a positive indicative vote.
