Joint statement by the Netherlands, Latvia, Portugal and the Czech Republic

"On 12 and 13 December 2017 SCoPAFF 'PPP voted in favour of the European Commission proposal for scientific criteria to identify endocrine disrupting (ED) active substances under the Regulation (EC) 1107/2009 for plant protection products.

Overall the Netherlands, Latvia, Portugal and the Czech Republic support these new criteria as they follow current scientific knowledge and are therefore an improvement to the current ad-interim criteria that are described (and to be followed by the authorities during the evaluation process) in Annex II of 1107/2009. All active substances that are qualified as ED for humans and non-target organisms are no longer to be approved or further evaluated.

However the Netherlands, Latvia and the Czech Republic abstained from voting because they strongly feel that the last version of the text of Annex II paragraph 3.6.5 is too generic: in this last version the possibility to have - for very distinct groups of organisms - a targeted endocrine mode of action has been removed. Portugal voted in favour, but nevertheless shares the underlying principles of the present statement)

By doing so an important group of possibly sustainable actives does no longer have a possibility to be placed on the market, due to their intrinsic properties.

The Netherlands, Latvia, Portugal and the Czech Republic therefore propose to replace as soon as possible in Annex II paragraph 3.6.5 and 3.8.2 of the 1107/2009 “negligible exposure” by “negligible risk” and thus align these paragraphs with the Biocide Regulation (EC) 528/2012. That is to change the text as follows:

Without prejudice to Article 4(1), active substances referred to in Annex II paragraph 3.6.5 (human tox) and 3.8.2 (eco-tox) of this Article may be approved if it is shown that at least the following condition of the active substance is met:

(...) it is not considered to have endocrine disruption properties that may cause adverse effect in humans / on non-target organisms, unless the risk to humans / to non-target organisms from exposure to that active substance, safener or synergist in a plant protection product, under realistic worst case conditions of use, is negligible (...)

The Netherlands, Latvia and Portugal call upon the Commission to take this alignment as soon as possible into account when a review/ redrafting of the text is in order."

Joint statement by Denmark and Sweden

"At the meetings of the Standing Committee on Plants, Animals, Food and Feed, 4th of July 2017 and 10 December 2017, Sweden voted against the proposals. As stated in the joint statement by Sweden and Denmark of 4 July 2017, we regret that the Commission has not listened to the major concern, voiced by Denmark, Sweden and others, that the criteria proposed requires an unprecedented high level of evidence to identify endocrine disruptors compared to other problematic substances, such as CMR-substances and do not properly reflect today's scientific knowledge on endocrine disruptors. The effect of the high level of evidence required is that the ban will not cover substances for which there are substantial data pointing towards endocrine disrupting properties. This is contrary to the actual wording of the Regulation and the clear intent of the legislators'. In total, the criteria fail to meet the level of protection foreseen by the co-legislators."

Joint statement by Denmark, Germany and the Netherlands

"Denmark, Germany and the Netherlands emphasize the importance of EU's contribution towards resource conservation and environmental sustainability through fishing only on surplus resources and preventing the overfishing of stocks within the sustainable fisheries partnership agreements. Generally, we believe that fisheries within fisheries agreements provide for improvement of sustainable fisheries.

Denmark, Germany and the Netherlands underline that the Union must promote the respect of human rights and democratic principles when entering into bilateral agreements. This is clearly stated in the negotiating mandate to the Commission and must be clear from the protocol.

We stress the importance of complying with EU law, of which international law may be considered an integral part, when negotiating a new protocol between EU and the Kingdom of Morocco.

Denmark, Germany and the Netherlands note the progress made during the current fisheries protocol to document the distribution of the financial support for the fishing sector, in particular in the regions of Western Sahara, and encourages furthering this work.

A future fisheries protocol between EU and the Kingdom of Morocco should respect the forthcoming judgement of the European Court of Justice in Case C-266/16 concerning the current fisheries agreement between EU and Morocco and its application to Western Sahara. Denmark, Germany and the Netherlands expect the Council to be consulted appropriately should the basis for the negotiating directives change in light of the judgement from the Court of Justice.

On this basis, Denmark, Germany and the Netherlands support the Council Decision to authorise the Commission to open negotiations on behalf of the European Union on a new protocol with the Kingdom of Morocco."

Statement by Sweden

"As Western Sahara is not part of the territory of Morocco, international law requires that the exploitation of fisheries resources is carried out for the benefit of the people of Western Sahara and in accordance with their interest and wishes. The proposed directives for the negotiations of a new protocol do not safeguard the protocol's conformity with international law. In line with Sweden's previous actions with regards to the agreement, Sweden can therefore not endorse the mandate and will vote against it."
