The Committee agreed on a revised mandate for the forthcoming trilogue.

Statement by Austria

"As regards Art 7 draft EDIDP regulation, AT fully agrees with the need to ensure that the results of the actions supported remain at the disposal of the Union and its MS. However, the provision has to comply with EU legal principles, in particular the principles of effectiveness and of legal certainty.

At the same time, legal scrutiny of the provision by Austria came to the conclusion that the use of the term "guarantee" proposed in Art 7 para 1 lit c is legally problematic, which already has been raised by Austria in preparation of this COREPER meeting. In particular, Austria sees the risk that the ECJ interpretation on this term would result in legal consequences, in particular liabilities for Member States.

In order to avoid the risk that the provision in question cannot be applied by Member States, a legal examination by Commission and Council Legal Service would be important for Austria."

Statement by Germany

"The Federal Republic of Germany states the following:

1. Re. Article 10(6a) new:
The provisions of the new Article 10(6a) do not impose any obligation to set up databases for energy performance certificates. This means that databases are voluntary. This is confirmed by recital 34.
2. Re. Annex I No. 2
Concerning the energy supplied through the energy carrier (distant energy sources), when calculating primary energy factors, Member States may take into account renewable sources in such a way that the share of renewable energy in the entire national grid (energy mix) is taken as a basis. Concerning the energy generated and consumed on-site or nearby, Member States may assess renewable energy sources individually when calculating primary energy factors for the energy carriers."

Statement by Austria

"Austria is strongly concerned that the current text does not enhance transparency on beneficial ownership necessary to avoid the abuse of trusts for the purpose of money laundering and terrorist financing. There is a clear need to establish mandatory central and public beneficial owner registries for trusts in the Member State by whose laws trusts are governed (Art. 31 of Directive 2015/849). Unfortunately, the current text enhances this lack of transparency of beneficial ownership of trusts even more as it provides for the anonymity of beneficial owners of certain types of trusts. Therefore, Austria calls for remedying this apparent deficiency of the future EU AML/CFT framework."

Statement by the Netherlands

"While supporting the Directive amending Directive (EU) 2015/849 on the prevention of the use of the financial system for the purposes of money laundering or terrorist financing, the Netherlands is concerned about the transposition period of 20 months for Member States to set up a register with beneficial ownership information of trusts and similar legal arrangements. A swift transposition and implementation of the amendments in the individual Member States is important. However, in Member States – such as the Netherlands – where trusts and similar legal arrangements are not governed under national law and where there is no registration requirement for trusts in place yet, it seems highly ambitious to have operational registers with beneficial ownership information in place within 20 months after the entry into force of this amending Directive."
