STATEMENT

Ad item 7:                    Organisation of future work

STATEMENT BY SPAIN

“Spain considers that it would be necessary to review the treatment that is being systematically carried out in the last councils of the central agriculture points, since we do not believe that it is appropriate for them always to be discussed in the afternoon, and on many occasions in the last minute of the Council.

We know that the Presidency and the Secretariat-General of the Council are doing their best to coordinate the Councils’ agenda as satisfactorily as possible, and that, on the side of the Commission, the agendas of the three Commissioners who usually participate in the Agriculture Councils are very complex and tight.

But, with all the necessary respect and considerations, we believe that the agenda of 27 ministers cannot be systematically conditioned by the agenda of the three Commissioners.

In addition, we consider that a wrong message is being sent to the citizens and stakeholders involved, leaving the central and main points of the Council for the end, when there are often no ministers already in the room.”
