Subject: Proposal for a Regulation of the European Parliament and of the Council on the European Union Drug Agency

Dear Mr LÓPEZ AGUILAR,

Following the informal negotiations between the representatives of the three institutions, the draft compromise text was agreed today by the Permanent Representatives' Committee.

I am therefore now in a position to confirm that, should the European Parliament adopt its position at first reading, in accordance with Article 294(3) of the Treaty on the Functioning of the European Union (TFEU), in the form of the text set out in the Annex to this letter (subject to finalisation by the lawyer-linguists of both institutions), the Council would, in accordance with Article 294(4) of the TFEU, approve the position of the European Parliament and the act shall be adopted in the wording which corresponds to the position of the European Parliament.

On behalf of the Council, I also wish to thank you for your close cooperation, which should enable us to reach agreement on this file at first reading.

Yours sincerely,

Lars DANIELSSON
Chairman of the Permanent Representatives' Committee (Part 2)

OF THE EUROPEAN PARLIAMENT AND OF THE COUNCIL

on the European Union Drugs Agency

THE EUROPEAN PARLIAMENT AND THE COUNCIL OF THE EUROPEAN UNION,

Having regard to the Treaty on the Functioning of the European Union, and in particular Article 168(5) thereof,

Having regard to the proposal from the European Commission,

After transmission of the draft legislative act to the national parliaments,

Having regard to the opinion of the European Economic and Social Committee¹,

Having regard to the opinion of the Committee of the Regions²,

Acting in accordance with the ordinary legislative procedure³,

³ Position of the European Parliament of ... (not yet published in the Official Journal) and decision of the Council of

Whereas:

- (1) The European Monitoring Centre for Drugs and Drug Addiction (the ‘EMCDDA’) was set up by Council Regulation (EEC) No 302/93⁴. This founding act was recast in 2006 through Regulation (EC) No 1920/2006 of the European Parliament and of the Council⁵.
- (2) The EMCDDA was set up to provide factual, objective, reliable and comparable information concerning drugs, drug addiction and their consequences at Union level to provide the Union, the Member States and participating countries with an overall view of that information and evidence to inform policymaking and guide initiatives to tackle drugs and thus give them added value when, in their respective areas of competence, they take measures or decide on action to address the drugs phenomenon. The establishment and functioning of the EMCDDA has manifestly improved the availability of information on drugs and drug addiction, and their consequences, across the Union as well as internationally.

- (3) Whereas its general objective is still valid and should be retained, Regulation (EC) No 1920/2006 as such no longer provides an adequate framework for addressing the current and future drug challenges. Therefore, the mandate of the EMCDDA should be revised, including in order to provide for its replacement, strengthening and renaming as the European Union Drugs Agency (the ‘Agency’). Since substantial amendments to Regulation (EC) No 1920/2006 are needed to accommodate the common approach on Union decentralised agencies adopted on 19 July 2012 by the European Parliament, the Council and the Commission and to take account of the developments of the drug phenomenon, in the interest of clarity and efficiency that Regulation should be replaced by a new Regulation.

- (4) The main focus of Regulation (EC) No 1920/2006 was placed on health-related issues. While it is essential to maintain that main focus, as health- and supply-related issues regarding the drug phenomenon are intrinsically linked, addressing drug supply is also necessary in order to reduce the availability of drugs in the Union and curb drug demand and thus contribute to addressing related safety and security concerns. In order to provide factual, objective, reliable, comparable and Union-wide significant data and analysis, the Agency should ■ address the drug phenomenon taking an evidence-based, integrated, balanced and multidisciplinary approach in relation to drugs, drug use, drug use disorders and addictions, prevention, treatment, care, risk and harm reduction, rehabilitation, social reintegration and recovery, drug markets and supply, including illicit production and trafficking, and other relevant drug related issues and their consequences. The Agency's approach should incorporate human rights, gender and gender equality, age, health, health equity and social perspectives.

- (5) The work of the Agency should be carried out with due regard to the respective powers of the Union and its Member States in the areas of drugs. It should cover the various facets of the drugs phenomenon and the solutions applied. In particular, the Agency should consider the protection and improvement of health, considering all aspects thereof, including physical and mental ones as well as potential impact on public health. The Agency should also look into social aspects including considerations linked to stigmatisation, marginalisation and reintegration of people who use drugs. In doing so, the Agency should be guided by Union drug-related strategic documents.
- (6) In pursuing its activities, the Agency should cooperate with other relevant Union bodies, offices and agencies within their respective mandates, and should take account of their activities in order to avoid duplication. In particular, the Agency should cooperate with the European Union Agency for Law Enforcement Cooperation (Europol), established by Regulation (EU) 2016/794 of the European Parliament and of the Council⁶, in order to ensure the collection of data and the monitoring of trends on drug supply, including illicit production and trafficking and other related crimes, as well as the use of new technologies and on new psychoactive substances, with due regard to their respective mandates. The Agency should also cooperate at international level with relevant authorities and bodies in third countries, in particular candidate countries, as well as in support of the Union's and Member States' action at the United Nations level. It is necessary that such cooperation comply with human rights norms.

- (7) In order to attain maximum efficiency in addressing the drugs phenomenon, the Agency should have exchanges with relevant stakeholders and in particular with the scientific community, notably including academia, civil society organisations, including organisations of people who use drugs and of communities affected by the consumption and sale of drugs or drug-related crime, and other relevant stakeholders. Given the particular relevance of the experience of civil society organisations in this area, the Agency should maintain cooperation on its activities with civil society organisations, such as those active in the relevant European Commission expert groups on drugs composed of civil society organisations. The Agency should dedicate the necessary means to consult, exchange information and pool knowledge with these organisations, including in the area of new psychoactive substances and, where appropriate, organise dedicated consultations on the topics within its mandate.

- (8) With a view to disseminating reliable information on drugs and the drug situation, the Agency should engage in communication activities on topics within its mandate. However, communication to the wider public in the area of drugs can sometimes have unintended negative consequences. As part of its communication activities and where appropriate, the Agency should therefore consider disseminating its reports, including initial reports and risk assessment reports of new psychoactive substances, also to the scientific community and civil society organisations, with a view to minimise possible drug-related harm. Where the Agency would be prevented from disseminating its report, in particular due to the presence of sensitive non-classified and classified data, it may consider publishing summaries thereof with a view to minimise possible drug-related harm.
- (9) The Agency's work should pay due regard to poly-substance use because it is becoming increasingly common. ■
- (10) The Agency should develop its activities around three main competence areas, i.e. monitoring, leading to better informed policies; preparedness, leading to better informed actions; and competence development, leading to stronger Union and Member States' responses to the drug phenomenon.

- (11) The collection, analysis and dissemination of data should continue to be the main task of the Agency. When collecting, analysing and disseminating data, the Agency should comply with the legal framework on the processing of personal data and should not disseminate or transmit any data which would make it possible to identify individuals or small groups of individuals. The standard data is collected through the national focal points, which should remain the primary data providers for the Agency. The Agency could also use additional sources and organise meetings of experts, including virtual ones. Additional, closer to real-time data sources are increasingly available through innovative data collection methods. Therefore, the Agency should have access to relevant data available to obtain a holistic picture of the drug phenomenon in the Union and the external factors influencing it. With a view to ensuring that the national focal points remain informed of the situation in the concerned Member State, they should be informed on a regular basis of national data collected from additional sources of information as well as of the activities of the network of forensic and toxicological laboratories.

- (12) National focal points are key players in the Union's drug monitoring and reporting system. They collect information and produce comparable and scientifically sound data on the national drug situation which feeds into monitoring the situation across the Union. The national focal points are also key in the process of improving data collection methodologies and tools, and develop relevant guidelines for their implementation. In addition, the national focal points participate in the early warning system and report on new trends in the use of existing psychoactive substances. It is therefore essential that the relationship between the Agency and the national focal points is a mutually-reinforcing one, and the data requirements of the Agency should be mirrored in the national focal points. They should be empowered within the Member States to receive all relevant data from the different national authorities. While avoiding any harmonisation measures and leaving the decisions as to the governance, structure or basic tasks of the national focal points in respect of other national competent authorities to the Member States, in line with the Treaties, the mandate of the Agency should enable a streamlining of data collection in the Member States as far as possible to avoid double reporting and duplication of efforts.

- (13) It is necessary to establish the foundations of a relationship of mutual trust and continuous dialogue between the Agency and the national focal points, based on a clear and effective functioning mechanism and a set of rules. The Agency should therefore be empowered to financially support the national focal points and contribute to their effective functioning, including by providing an assessment of each national focal point relating directly to its contribution towards a coordinated Union action in the field of drugs.
- (14) With the aim of supporting an effective Union action in the field of drugs and contributing to the work of the Agency, the national focal points should, inter alia, assume a coordinating role in activities related to ensuring a coherent drug-related data gathering and monitoring, communication with the Agency, promotion of evidence-based decision making, ensuring a cross-sectoral and comprehensive national view over the drug situation, including any relevant information on new trends and challenges as well as contributing to the establishment of relevant indicators. In addition, and in line with national competence, the national focal points have a key role to promote and support evidence-based decision-making, support systems of collaboration and assess the information needs of relevant stakeholders and compile an up-to-date inventory of national drug information sources.

- (15) In order to facilitate and structure data collection, information exchange, both qualitative and quantitative, and to support the establishment of an integrated and interoperable monitoring system enabling real-time monitoring, the Agency should develop and apply the appropriate digital solutions necessary for the performance of its tasks.
- (16) In order to enable the Agency to make better use of the information it has available, for example to issue more proactive measures such as threat assessments, strategic intelligence reports and alerts, and to enhance the Union's preparedness for future developments, the monitoring and analytical capacity of the Agency should be strengthened as compared to the EMCDDA.
- (17) In order to improve the Union's preparedness, it is also necessary to have a holistic picture of the potential future developments of the drug phenomenon. To prepare itself and better equip policymakers for such future developments, the Agency should conduct regular foresight exercises taking into account megatrends, that is long-term driving forces that are observable now and will most likely have significant influence on the future, aiming at identifying new challenges and opportunities for responding to drug problems.

- (18) The drug phenomenon is becoming increasingly technology-enabled, as was shown again during the COVID-19 pandemic where a greater adoption of new technologies to facilitate drug distribution has been observed. It is estimated that about two-thirds of the offers on darknet markets are drug-related. Drug trading is using different platforms, including social media networks and mobile applications. This development is mirrored in responses to the drug phenomenon, with an increased use of internet communications and online interventions, including mobile applications and e-health interventions. The Agency, together with other relevant Union agencies and avoiding duplication of efforts, should monitor such developments as part of its holistic approach to the drug phenomenon.
- (19) New psychoactive substances which pose public health and social risks across the Union, should be adequately addressed. It is therefore necessary to monitor them and, to enable a quick response, to maintain the EU Early Warning System. The information exchange on and early warning system for new psychoactive substances, including the initial report and the risk assessment of new psychoactive substances has been amended recently and should remain unchanged.

- (20) Based on the strengthened monitoring by the Agency and the experience gained in the risk assessment of new psychoactive substances, the Agency should develop general health and security threat assessment capabilities. A more proactive capacity to rapidly identify new threats and inform the development of counter-measures is urgently needed as the dynamic nature of the modern drug phenomenon means that related challenges can rapidly spread across borders.
- (21) As dangerous substances and certain consumption patterns might lead to harm for ■ health, the Agency should be able to issue alerts complementing and without prejudice to the relevant national alert systems. To support such a function, the Agency should develop a European drug alert system, accessible by national authorities. Such a system should facilitate the rapid exchange of information that may require rapid actions to safeguard health, social aspects, safety, and security. The Agency should, under the conditions laid down in this Regulation, be able to develop an alert system to make information on the identified risk available to people who use or potentially use specific drugs.

- (22) Drug precursors are substances necessary for the production of drugs such as amphetamines, cocaine and heroin. As illegal drug production in the Union is increasing, the prevention of trafficking and diversion of drug precursors from legal channels to illegal drug production should be strengthened. To support those efforts, the Agency should have a role in monitoring the diversion and trafficking of drug precursors and assisting the Commission in the implementation of the Union drug precursors legislation.
- (23) As there is a growing need for forensic and toxicological data and specialist expertise, matched by a requirement for better coordination between laboratories in the Member States, it is necessary to set up a ■ network of forensic and toxicological laboratories knowledgeable in the area of drugs and drug-related harms. This network should enable the Agency access to relevant information, increase its capacities in the area and support knowledge exchange between the relevant laboratories in the Member States, without incurring the high costs of creating and running its own laboratory.

- (24) The network of forensic and toxicological laboratories should be representative of the Member States by allowing each of them to appoint up to three laboratories to the network, covering toxicological and forensic expertise. In order to ensure the broadest coverage possible, experts from other laboratories relevant for the work of the Agency, including from the Customs Laboratories European Network, should also be given the possibility to participate in the network. Such cooperation would enable all laboratories involved to learn from each other across different domains.
- (25) To further the knowledge in this area and support Member States, the Agency should define and finance relevant projects, such as the development of reference standards on new drugs, the elaboration of toxicological or pharmacological studies, the implementation of innovative approaches to research, and drug profiling. Such an approach would support the sharing of information between relevant laboratories and would decrease the costs for individual laboratories. The projects that the Agency finances should be included in the Agency's annual activity report and be made public.

- (26) ■ The Agency will be placed in a position to access data and gain the necessary scientific experience to develop and promote evidence-based interventions, best practices and raise awareness about adverse effects of drugs, prevention, risk and harm reduction measures, treatment, care, rehabilitation and recovery, and, where relevant, take a gender-sensitive approach and take into account the age dimension. The Agency should promote the implementation and updating of existing quality standards for drug prevention (European Drug Prevention Quality Standards) or of a curriculum providing decision- and policy-makers with the knowledge about the most effective evidence-based prevention interventions and approaches (European Union Prevention Curriculum), including how to reach high-risk populations.
- (27) Given its Union-wide perspective, the Agency should be able to assess national measures and training, for example on prevention, including gender-sensitive and age-appropriate prevention, treatment, harm reduction, recovery and other related measures, in view of their compliance with the latest scientific state of play and of their proven effectiveness. Member States ■ should be given the possibility to benefit from the assessment of the national measures as a quality label for their work.

- (28) Considering that the Agency will be placed in a unique position at Union level allowing it to compare data and best practices, the Agency should be able to offer support, including, where so required by Member States, as a means to assist with evaluation and drafting of national drug strategies in a more structured way across Member States ■ . In addition, the Agency's role in providing training and support to Member States in the implementation of quality standards and good practices should be strengthened in light of the expertise it will be developing in these areas.
- (29) International cooperation should be part of the core tasks of the Agency with responsibilities defined in ■ clear terms in order to allow it to fully engage in such activities and respond to requests from third countries and bodies. The Agency should be able to offer adequate scientific and evidence-based tools for the development and implementation of the external dimension of the Union's drugs policy and the important role of the Union at multilateral level in line with the Treaties as a means to ensure the efficient and coherent implementation of the Union drug policies internally and at international level ■ . Work in that area should be based on an international cooperation framework of the Agency, which should be in line with the Treaties and the Union priorities on international cooperation and guided by the relevant United Nations instruments. The Agency should revise the international cooperation framework on a regular basis in order to ensure that it adequately reflects international developments and priorities.

- (30) In order to help Union funding for security and health research to develop its full potential and address the needs of drugs policy, the Agency should assist the Commission in identifying key research themes and in drawing up and implementing the Union framework programmes for research and innovation that are relevant to the Agency's objectives. Where the Agency assists the Commission in identifying key research themes and in drawing up and implementing a Union framework programme, it should not receive funding from that programme and should take all necessary measures in order to avoid conflicts of interest. Finally, the Agency should participate in Union-wide initiatives addressing research and innovation to ensure that technologies necessary for its activities are developed and available for use. Planned research and innovation activities should be set out in the single programming document containing the Agency's multiannual and annual work programme.
- (31) The Agency's Management Board should be assisted by an Executive Board to prepare the Agency's decisions. The Agency should be headed by an Executive Director. A Scientific Committee should continue assisting the Management Board and the Executive Director with regard to relevant scientific matters.

- (32) The Commission and the Member States should be represented on the Management Board of the Agency to effectively supervise its work. The members and the alternate members of the Management Board should be appointed taking into account their relevant managerial, administrative and budgetary skills. Alternate members should act as members in the absence of the member. Alternates may also attend meetings in the presence of the member without their presence entailing additional costs for the Agency and without taking part in the votes.
- (33) The Management Board should be given the necessary powers, in particular to set the budget and adopt the appropriate financial rules and planning documents and adopt the annual activity report. In order to ensure the independent functioning and integrity of the Agency, the Management Board should also adopt rules for the prevention and management of conflicts of interest in respect of its members, the members of the Executive Board, Scientific Committee, and the European Information Network on Drugs and Drug Addiction, as well as of seconded national experts and other staff not employed by the Agency. In so doing, the Agency should give due consideration to the recommendations and guidelines on this matter, in particular those of the European Ombudsman as well as the Commission Guidelines on the prevention and management of conflicts of interest in EU decentralised agencies. The Management Board should exercise the powers of appointing authority vis-à-vis staff of the agency, including the Executive Director.

- (34) All parties represented therein should endeavour to multiply perspectives and experiences represented in and contributing to the Management Board's work, while ensuring the continuity of the work in this structure. All parties should aim to achieve a gender balanced representation on the Management Board.
- (35) The Executive Director should be appointed by the Management Board following an open and transparent selection procedure organised and managed by the Commission. In line with the practice followed in appointments of an Executive Director by the EMCDDA, the Commission should consider including a representative of the Management Board as observer in that procedure. The assessment by the Commission at the end of the initial five years term of office of the Executive Director should include prior input of the Management Board on the performance of the Executive Director.

I

- (36) The Agency should be adequately resourced to carry out the tasks, objectives and responsibilities assigned to it under this Regulation. The Agency should be granted an autonomous budget reflecting its mission. It should be mainly financed by a contribution from the general budget of the Union. The Union budgetary procedure should be applicable as far as the Union contribution and any other subsidies chargeable to the general budget of the Union are concerned. The auditing of accounts should be undertaken by the Court of Auditors of the European Union.
- (37) The possibility for the Agency to deliver additional services, beyond its core tasks laid down in the Regulation, against payment of fees should be introduced in order to support Member States and other stakeholders in understanding and addressing the drugs phenomenon. The method by which fees levied by the Agency are calculated should be transparent, and the fees levied by the Agency should cover the full costs for providing the activities related to the services delivered, including staff and operational costs. When fees have been levied in a financial year, the Agency's provisional accounts should be accompanied by a report on those fees, which would also be subject to the audit of the Court of Auditors. Fees should be set at a level that avoids a deficit or a significant accumulation of surplus, and should be revised when this is not the case.

- (38) The Executive Director should present the annual report of the Agency to the European Parliament and to the Council. Furthermore, the European Parliament and the Council should be able to invite the Executive Director to report on the performance of her or his duties.
- (39) Regulation (EC) No 1049/2001 of the European Parliament and of the Council⁷ should apply to the Agency. The Agency should be as transparent as possible about its activities, without jeopardising the attainment of the objective of its operations.
- (40) Regulation (EU, Euratom) No 883/2013 of the European Parliament and of the Council⁸ and the Interinstitutional Agreement of 25 May 1999 between the European Parliament, the Council of the European Union and the Commission of the European Communities concerning internal investigations by the European Anti-Fraud Office (OLAF)⁹, to which the EMCDDA already acceded, should apply to the Agency.

⁹ OJ L 136, 31.5.1999, p. 15.

- (41) The Agency processes data that require particular protection, in particular sensitive non-classified and EU classified information. The Agency should draw up rules on the confidentiality and processing of such information. The rules on the protection of EU classified information should be consistent with Commission Decisions (EU, Euratom) 2015/443¹⁰ and 2015/444¹¹. In line with those provisions, the Agency should refrain from publishing sensitive data. It should also refrain from disclosing confidential business information of third parties.
- (42) In order to control and ensure the performance of the Agency and that its mandate allows it to carry out the necessary activities required by drug market and policy developments, an external evaluation of the Agency's work should be conducted on a regular basis and its mandate adapted accordingly, if needed.
- (43) The Agency should cooperate closely, in full compliance with fundamental rights, with relevant international organisations, other governmental and non-governmental bodies and relevant technical bodies from inside and outside the Union in the implementation of its work programme, in line with the relevant Treaty provisions and Member States' competences, notably to avoid duplication of work and to ensure access to all data and tools needed for carrying out its mandate.

¹⁰ Commission Decision (EU, Euratom) 2015/443 of 13 March 2015 on Security in the Commission (OJ L 72, 17.3.2015, p. 41).

¹¹ Commission Decision (EU, Euratom) 2015/444 of 13 March 2015 on the security rules for protecting EU classified information (OJ L 72, 17.3.2015, p. 53).

- (44) The Agency replaces and succeeds the EMCDDA established by Regulation (EC) 1920/2006. It should therefore be the legal successor of all its contracts, including employment contracts, liabilities and properties acquired. International agreements concluded by the EMCDDA before the date of application of this Regulation should remain in force.
- (45) Since the objectives of this Regulation, namely the establishment of an agency to address the drugs phenomenon, cannot be sufficiently achieved by the Member States but can rather, by reason of the scale and effects of the action, be better achieved at Union level, the Union may adopt measures, in accordance with the principle of subsidiarity as set out in Article 5 of the Treaty on European Union. In accordance with the principle of proportionality, as set out in that Article, this Regulation does not go beyond what is necessary in order to achieve those objectives,

HAVE ADOPTED THIS REGULATION:

Article 4
General task of the Agency

The Agency shall:

- (a) provide the Union and its Member States with factual, objective, reliable and comparable information, early warning and risk assessment at Union level concerning drugs, drug use, drug use disorders and addictions, prevention, treatment, care, risk and harm reduction, rehabilitation, social reintegration, recovery, drug markets and supply, including illicit production and trafficking, and other relevant drug related issues and their consequences; and*
- (b) recommend appropriate and concrete evidence-based actions on how to address the challenges set out in point (a) in an efficient and timely manner.*

In carrying out its tasks, the Agency shall ensure full compliance with fundamental rights and data protection rules, and take an evidence-based, integrated, balanced and multidisciplinary approach to the drugs phenomenon. That approach shall incorporate human rights, gender and gender equality, age, health, health equity and social perspectives.

Article 5
Specific tasks

1. In order to implement the general task set out in Article 4, the Agency shall perform the following tasks:
 - (a) monitoring tasks that shall include:
 - (i) the collection and analysis of information and data pursuant to Article 6(1);
