22a			(12a) Since the essential safety requirements harmonised by the existing Directives remain applicable and the authorisation issued by a national competent authority without the CE marking may occur exceptionally, temporarily and additionally to the conformity assessment procedures laid down in those Directives, this amending Directive continues to improve the conditions for the functioning of the internal market. Therefore, this amending Directive takes into account both the context constituted by the fully harmonised rules stemming from the existing Directives and the complementary rules stemming from amendments that would be made to them which would not only allow national authorities to recognise authorisations issued in other Member States but would also require the Commission to extend the validity of such national authorisations from the territory

			of a single Member State to the territory of the Union by means of implementing acts, unless the requirements set in the authorisation do not ensure conformity with the essential requirements laid down in these Directives. Such a parallel national authorisation scheme in exceptional times of crisis, in addition to the Union conformity assessment procedure, is justified and proportionate for the achievement of the legitimate objective of protecting health, life and safety. By not providing for an automatic mutual recognition of each national authorisation which is granted on a derogatory basis in times of crisis, this amending Directive aims to avoid any circumvention or undermining of the CE marking procedure and thereby to maintain consumer confidence in the safety of products bearing the CE marking in the Union market. Therefore, these new derogatory rules, insofar as they prohibit the CE marking on the products which have been approved only at national level, should not affect the harmonised
