Statement by the Commission

"The Commission disagrees with the establishment of the rapid review procedure laid down in the Presidency compromise for the Making Available Regulation on plastics (Article 9) and in the regulation amending the regulation on uniform arrangements for the collection of own resources accruing from value added tax. The Commission is of the view that in accordance with current legislation the Member States should remain responsible for the accuracy of the making available of own resources and should also bear the risks connected with the errors. The proposed review procedure would shift such responsibility from the Member States to the Commission. In addition, this would unnecessarily and significantly delay the making available of these amounts of the relevant own resources, create legal uncertainty for certain periods and significantly increase litigation. Moreover it is not appropriate to set up a different procedure for a specific own resource.

The Commission recalls that the Judgement of the Court of 9 July 2020 in case C-575/18P stresses that, in accordance with the principle of sincere cooperation, the Commission has the explicit obligation to start a constructive dialogue with the Member State to resolve any divergence of views in relation to own resources made available, while the Member State has formulated reservations as to the validity of the arguments presented by the Commission. This ruling also confirmed the possibility for Member State to bring an action for unjust enrichment before the General Court to contest such a payment. This constitutes a legal remedy for the Member States allowing them to obtain judicial review of the status of the amounts of own resources made available under reservation.

Should the Council not appropriately take into account the Commission's view, the Commission formally opposes the amendments envisaged by Council in line with Article 293(1) TFEU."

Statement by Austria on social security coordination

"Concluding social security agreements with third countries lies within Member States' competence, which have to respect the obligations under the TFEU when doing so (e.g. case C-55/00, Gottardo). Nevertheless, the Trade and Cooperation Agreement contains also provisions concerning the coordination of the respective social security systems, taking into account the unique situation of the relation between the EU and the United Kingdom.

These provisions cannot put in question the competence of Member States to conclude bilateral agreements with other third countries in the future and cannot have an impact on the content of such agreements. Also in relation to the United Kingdom the competence exercised by the EU in the Trade and Cooperation Agreement must remain limited to the absolutely necessary issues. Therefore, the term "subject matters covered by the Protocol on Social Security" must be interpreted as exemption from the principle of autonomy of Member States in this field and must be interpreted restrictively. Member States must be free to agree with the United Kingdom on principles or provisions not contained in the Protocol on Social Security Coordination as long as they correspond e.g. to the provisions of Regulations (EC) No. 883/2004 and 987/2009. The procedures provided in Article 8 of the Council Decision on the conclusion, on behalf of the Union, of the Trade and Cooperation Agreement between the European Union and the European Atomic Energy Community, of the one part, and the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland, of the other part, and of the Agreement between the European Union and the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland concerning security procedures for exchanging and protecting classified information cannot hinder the exercise of these rights of the Member States."

Statement by Austria, Denmark, Italy, Sweden and Greece on road transport

"Austria, Denmark, Italy, Sweden and Greece thank the European Commission and in particular the Union negotiating team for the tremendous work that has been done and the agreements that have been reached. We also welcome the proposed mutual measures enabling road haulage, coach, and bus service operators to carry goods and passengers to and from the United Kingdom and EU Member States. These measures are essential in keeping a close economic relationship with the United Kingdom.

Throughout the negotiation process we have underlined that certain traffic rights such as the limited right for cabotage or cross-trade in road freight are a privilege of the Single Market and have to be protected. Even though the UK as a third state does not have the same rights and does not enjoy the same benefits as a member, we consider the road haulage rights granted under the Trade and Cooperation Agreement as extensive. We understand that the granting of those rights is a result of the very special situation that a Member State has left the European Union.

Mindful of overarching economic concerns and in the interest of an overall compromise, which builds the base for a mutually beneficial and balanced partnership between the European Union and the United Kingdom we support the agreement that has been reached on road transport.

We recall that the situation between the European Union and the United Kingdom is, however, not comparable with any other third country and the rights granted within the Trade and Cooperation Agreement do not constitute any precedent."
