ITEMS DEBATED

Current affairs

The Council touched on the Global Refugee Forum, which will take place in Geneva on 17-18 December 2019. Development ministers were informed about the EU's wider engagement, covering the entire range of areas of the Global Compact on Refugees.

The Council was also updated on the state of play of negotiations on the future partnership between the EU and the African, Caribbean and Pacific (ACP) countries, in view of the Cotonou framework's expiration in 2020.

Financial architecture for development

Development ministers exchanged views on the future financial architecture for sustainable development following the release of the Wise Persons Group's report on 8 October 2019.

The Chair of the Wise Persons Group, Thomas Wieser, presented the final report on how to maximise the added value of the European financial architecture for development, taking into account existing national and international bodies involved. The President of the European Investment Bank (EIB), Werner Hoyer, and the President of the European Bank for Reconstruction and Development (EBRD), Sir Suma Chakrabarti, also attended the meeting and presented their views.

The report argues in support of consolidating and streamlining development finance and climate activities outside the EU into a single entity – a 'European Climate and Sustainable Development Bank' – in order to avoid overlaps and to strengthen the EU's presence, role and long-term capacity to deliver on its development priorities. The report also outlines several options for achieving this. In addition, it makes the case for taking more immediate steps to create a strong policy centre in the EU and to use the EU development budget in the forthcoming multiannual financial framework as a catalyst for reforming the existing system.

During the discussion, ministers stressed the importance of working towards a common and strategic vision, and improving the coherence and effectiveness of EU action, thereby giving the EU greater visibility and impact as the largest donor in the world jointly with its member states. Ministers also highlighted that work on short-term measures should be taken forward as soon as possible, and that longer-term solutions should be based on in-depth analysis.

The Finnish presidency aims to adopt Council conclusions on the report by December 2019, taking into account the guidance provided by development ministers.

Support for developing countries in transition

The Council discussed how the EU and member states can better cooperate to support development of countries in transition, paying particular attention to the cases of Ethiopia and Sudan. Ministers shared their experience and identified best practices, challenges and priorities. In the case of Ethiopia, the focus of these priorities is economic transition, including private sector engagement.

In a short exchange of views on Sudan, building on the discussions held by foreign ministers on 11 November, the Council reaffirmed its support for the peace process and reiterated the importance of including women and youth in achieving long-term stability, as well as the urgent need to accompany the democratic transition with the necessary resources.

Gender and education

Over a working lunch, EU development ministers had an exchange of views with the Ethiopian Minister of Education, Dr Tilaye Gete. They looked at learning challenges in Africa from a gender equality perspective.

OTHER ITEMS APPROVED

DEVELOPMENT COOPERATION

Council conclusions on addressing inequality in partner countries

The Council today adopted conclusions on addressing inequality in partner countries.

The Council notes that many partner countries remain confronted with levels of inequality that are higher than they were 30 years ago and which threaten the implementation of the 2030 Agenda. Inequality is a major brake on the eradication of poverty and sustainable economic growth; it can threaten democracy, social cohesion and inclusion, resilience and stability, and can exacerbate environmental degradation and climate change.

The conclusions also acknowledge the multidimensional nature of inequality, which encompasses economic, social, political and environmental aspects and requires urgent attention.

The Council reaffirms that tackling inequality is an internal and external priority for the European Union and that equality and solidarity are among the values and principles guiding the Union and its external action.

Council conclusions on humanitarian assistance and international humanitarian law

The Council adopted conclusions on humanitarian assistance and international humanitarian law (IHL). They will guide the common messaging of the EU and the member states at the 70th anniversary of the Geneva Conventions and the 33rd International Conference of the Red Cross and Red Crescent, which will take place in Geneva on 9-12 December.

These conclusions reaffirm the Council's strong support for the respect for and promotion of IHL as operationalised in the EU Guidelines on promoting compliance with international humanitarian law. They also reiterate the EU's commitment to doing its utmost to strengthen effective multilateralism and to promote a rules-based international order.

The conclusions also express the EU's commitment to responding to the rapidly growing humanitarian needs around the world, to strengthening coordination between humanitarian, development and peace actions, and to more effectively addressing the humanitarian impact of climate change.

Council conclusions on the fourth progress report on the EU's Action Plan on Nutrition

The Council adopted conclusions on the fourth progress report on the EU's Action Plan on Nutrition, which aims to reduce stunting in children under five by at least 10% of the World Health Assembly goal by 2025.

The conclusions recognise that hunger and malnutrition in all its forms constitute one of the greatest global obstacles to achieving most of the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) and to equitable economic and social development. They also note with alarm the negative trends in food insecurity and malnutrition. The Council therefore recalls the firm commitment of the EU and its member states to ending hunger and all forms of malnutrition in line with the 2030 Agenda, the European Consensus on Development and the European Consensus on Humanitarian Aid.

Council conclusions on the implementation of the EU Gender Action Plan II in 2018

The Council adopted the conclusions on the implementation of the EU Gender Action Plan II in 2018, which focused on strengthening gender equality and women's empowerment in EU external action.

The conclusions note that further significant progress was made globally in 2018. Several countries have adopted or are ready to adopt equality and anti-discrimination laws, have increased their gender budgeting and have improved the quality of their reporting and transparency processes. They also highlight, however, that no country in the world can yet be considered to be on track for achieving gender equality by 2030. The Council therefore recalls the urgent need for a much deeper, faster and more ambitious response at the global, regional and local levels.

BUDGETS

EU budget for 2020

The Council approved the joint text on the EU's general budget for 2020 agreed with the European Parliament on 18 November (14283/19 + ADD 1-5).

The EU's budget for 2020 will continue to support the growth and competitiveness of the European economy, as well as other EU priorities, such as security and the management of migration. 21% of the budget will go towards measures aimed at addressing climate change. This has been achieved through increases for climate-related actions in several areas such as research and development, transport and energy infrastructure, and the EU's external action.

Total commitments are set at €168.7 billion. This is an increase of 1.5% compared to the amended 2019 budget. €1.5 billion have been kept available under the expenditure ceilings of the multiannual financial framework for 2014-2020, allowing the EU to react to unforeseeable needs.

Total payments amount to €153.6 billion, rising 3.4% from 2019. This increase reflects the continuing implementation of the 2014-2020 programmes at full speed.

Mobilisation of the Flexibility Instrument

The Council adopted a decision to mobilise the Flexibility Instrument for the EU's general budget for 2020, to provide €778.1 million in commitments under heading 3 (Security and Citizenship) (14286/19).

The purpose of the decision is to supplement the financing available in the EU budget for 2020 beyond the ceiling of heading 3 to finance measures in the field of migration, refugees and security.

EU budget for 2020 - Mobilisation of the EU Solidarity Fund

The Council adopted a decision to mobilise the EU Solidarity Fund for the EU's general budget for 2020, to provide €50 million in commitments and payment appropriations for the payment of advances (14287/19).

The aim of this proposal is to allow the timely payment of advances in the event of natural disasters in member states or in a country involved in accession negotiations with the European Union.
