DATA FLOWS WITH TRUST

ARTICLE 5

Cross-Border Data Flows

1. The Parties are committed to ensuring the cross-border transfer of data by electronic means where this activity is for the conduct of the business of a covered person.
2. To that end, a Party shall not adopt or maintain measures which prohibit or restrict the cross-border transfer of data set out in paragraph 1 by:
 - (a) requiring the use of computing facilities or network elements in the Party's territory for processing of data, including by imposing the use of computing facilities or network elements that are certified or approved in the territory of the Party;

A Party may at any time propose to the other Party to review the list of restrictions listed in paragraph 2, including if the other Party has agreed not to adopt or maintain other types of measures in addition to those listed in paragraph 2 in a future bilateral or multilateral agreement. Such request shall be accorded sympathetic consideration.

4. Nothing in this Article shall prevent a Party from adopting or maintaining a measure inconsistent with paragraph 2 to achieve a legitimate public policy objective⁶, provided that the measure:

⁷ For greater certainty, this provision does not affect the interpretation of other exceptions in this Agreement and their application to this Article and the right of a Party to invoke any of them.

1. The Parties recognise that individuals have a right to privacy and the protection of personal data and that high and enforceable standards in this regard contribute to trust in the digital economy and to the development of trade.
2. Each Party shall adopt or maintain a legal framework that provides for the protection of the personal data of individuals.
3. In the development of its legal framework for the protection of personal data, each Party should take into account principles and guidelines developed by relevant international bodies or organisations, such as the principles referred to in the Joint Declaration on privacy and the protection of personal data⁸, and the Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development (hereinafter referred to as "OECD") Guidelines Governing the Protection of Privacy and Trans-Border Flows of Personal Data.

This may include the recognition of regulatory outcomes, whether accorded autonomously or by mutual arrangement, broader international frameworks, or joint guidance on the utilisation of common cross-border data transfer mechanisms.

⁸ Issued at the Forum for cooperation in the Indo-Pacific held in Paris on 22 February 2022.

9. The Parties shall encourage the development of tools for businesses to demonstrate compliance with personal data protection standards and best practices.
10. The Parties shall endeavour to exchange information on and share experiences on the use of data protection compliance tools referred to in paragraph 9, and shall endeavour to promote convergence between each other's respective tools.
11. Nothing in this Agreement shall prevent a Party from adopting or maintaining measures under its respective legal framework referred to in paragraph 2 that it deems appropriate, including through the adoption and application of rules for the cross-border transfer of personal data, provided that the law of the Party provides for instruments enabling transfers under conditions of general application for the protection of the data transferred.

7. Each Party shall make publicly available and easily accessible its consumer protection laws and regulations.
8. The Parties recognise the importance of affording to consumers engaged in electronic commerce consumer protection at a level not less than that afforded to consumers engaged in other forms of commerce.

¹³ In the case of intermediary service suppliers, this also includes the identity and contact details of the actual supplier of the good or the service.

9. Each Party shall promote access to, and awareness of, consumer redress mechanisms, including for consumers transacting cross-border.

ARTICLE 13

Unsolicited Commercial Electronic Messages

1. The Parties recognise the importance of promoting confidence and trust in electronic commerce, including through transparent and effective measures that limit unsolicited commercial electronic messages. To this end, each Party shall adopt or maintain measures that:
 - (a) require suppliers of commercial electronic messages to facilitate the ability of recipients who are natural persons to prevent ongoing reception of those messages; and
 - (b) require the consent, as specified in the laws or regulations of each Party, of recipients who are natural persons to receive commercial electronic messages.
2. Notwithstanding subparagraph 1(b), each Party shall allow those natural or juridical persons who have collected, in accordance with its law, the contact details of a recipient that is a natural person in the context of the supply of goods or services, to send commercial electronic messages to that user for their own similar goods or services.
3. Each Party shall ensure that commercial electronic messages are clearly identifiable as such, clearly disclose on whose behalf they are sent, and contain the necessary information to enable recipients who are natural persons to request cessation of those messages at any time and, to the extent provided for in a Party's laws and regulations, free of charge.
4. Each Party shall provide access to redress against suppliers of unsolicited commercial electronic messages that do not comply with the measures adopted or maintained pursuant to paragraphs 1 to 3.

Open Government Data

1. For the purposes of this article, "metadata" means structural or descriptive information about data, such as the content, format, source, rights, accuracy, provenance, frequency, periodicity, granularity, publisher or responsible party, contact information, method of collection or context.

¹⁴ For the purposes of subparagraph 1(a), the Parties recognise that an Internet access service supplier that offers its subscribers certain content on an exclusive basis would not be acting contrary to this principle.

2. The Parties recognise that facilitating public access to and use of government data fosters economic and social development, competitiveness, productivity and innovation. To this end, Parties are encouraged to expand the coverage of such data, such as through engagement and consultation with interested stakeholders.

2. Each Party shall ensure that the implementation of measures related to electronic invoicing in its territory is designed to support cross-border interoperability between the Parties' electronic invoicing frameworks. To this end, the Parties shall, as appropriate, base their measures related to electronic invoicing on international frameworks, standards, guidelines or recommendations.
3. The Parties recognise the economic importance of promoting the global adoption of interoperable electronic invoicing frameworks. To this end, the Parties shall endeavour to share best practices and collaborate on promoting the adoption of interoperable systems for electronic invoicing.

2. Each Party shall endeavour to make publicly available forms and documents required for import, export or transit of goods available to the public in electronic format. For the purposes of this paragraph, the term "electronic format" includes formats suitable for automated interpretation and electronic processing without human intervention, as well as digitised images and forms.
3. Each Party shall endeavour to accept completed electronic versions of forms and documents required for import, export or transit of goods as the legal equivalent of paper versions of those forms and documents.
4. The Parties shall endeavour to cooperate bilaterally and in international fora to promote acceptance of electronic versions of forms and documents required for import, export or transit of goods.
5. In developing initiatives which provide for the use of paperless trading, each Party shall endeavour to take into account the methods agreed by international organisations.

6. Each Party recognises the importance of facilitating the exchange of electronic records used in commercial trading activities between businesses within its respective territory and in accordance with its laws and regulations.

ARTICLE 19

Single Window

1. The Parties recognise that single window systems facilitate trade, including digital trade, and reaffirm their commitment in Article 6.13 (Single Window) of the Free Trade Agreement to endeavour to develop or maintain single window systems to facilitate a single, electronic submission of all information required by customs and other legislation for the exportation, importation and transit of goods.

2. The Parties shall develop cooperation, such as by exchanging, where relevant and appropriate, through a structured and recurrent electronic communication between the customs authorities of the Parties, customs-related information as appropriate and in accordance with the laws and regulations of each Party, for the purposes of improving risk management and the effectiveness of customs controls, targeting goods at risk in terms of revenue collection or safety and security, and facilitating legitimate trade. The Committee on Customs established by Article 16.2 (Specialised Committees) of the Free Trade Agreement may, where it considers necessary, discuss matters, propose recommendations and adopt decisions for the purposes of implementing this Article.

ARTICLE 20
